24 HOURS WITH...GEOFFREY ZAKARIAN

The famed chef finally takes a breather on the Sunday after opening week at his brand new Greenwich, CT branch of The National

7:00am: Starting my day off with a hotel robe and room service breakfast at the Delamar Hotel.

9:00am: The first of what I'm sure will be many double espressos today. Not pictured: the New York Post, The Financial Times and The Wall Street Journal, my daily morning reads.

11:00am: Exploring around Greenwich and came across this beauty—a pristine 1938 Red Talbot Lago. I was expecting Bond to jump in.

2:00pm: Even on my day off I can't stay away...I just had to check in for a minute.

6:00pm: Well, who needs a day off anyway? Back in the kitchen at The National!

10:00pm: Cheers to another great night. Ending mine with our signature Greenwich Means Thyme cocktail.
