This will be an honest debate on real solutions to stop the closings of our small businesses. Listen to a real discussion about the survival of small business owners, and learn about real solutions as opposed to City organized roundtables with handpicked businesses and organizations that receive City funding and depend on their largesse.

We are past the tipping point, now more than ever action needs to be taken to address this worsening crisis. Elected officials are invited to listen to the real victims of rent gouging and the real consequences of communities losing their small businesses and jobs.
