“True union between man and woman is not for the faint hearted, nor is the knowing and living of eternal love. It is for those rare ones who desire only their highest potential to realise God in their relatedness. For they know that the highest calling will strip them naked of all their beliefs of a separate sensed self and leave them standing together in the transparency of realised Being; open and vulnerable, living a life of fullness and meaning.”

Introduction

This book is a compilation of excerpts taken from talks and satsang with 'B' Prior, a Spiritual Master whose teaching on true partnership and higher sexuality are a bright light on the path of awakening in intimacy. The pieces spring from a profound and timeless conversation and enquiry into our original oneness nature and the profound meeting of mysteries that is 'man and woman'.

B's teaching is uniquely rooted in both Non-Duality and Tantra. He points to the one in all things, the 'One in the two' and the 'two in the One', and how an eternal and essentially incomprehensible union is manifest as our lives and as our sexuality.

The book encompasses both the highest vision and possibility for man and woman on this earth and the everyday living of it. B speaks of the pre-existing union of the Masculine and Feminine Principles, that they are not two, but are one; Awareness-Knowing, Oneness moving or the 'I Am'.

His conveyance of this is unique and does not match current molds of how we have come to understand and engage the Masculine and Feminine, as expressed in colloquial phrases such as: "I am getting in touch with my inner Feminine." or "I am developing my inner masculine." or "His feminine and my masculine side hit it off perfectly."

B's invitation is into an entirely different frequency and frequency of embodiment – the realisation, beyond any concept, that the eternal dance of form and formlessness, of Consciousness and Awareness, is not exterior but is essentially what we are as Source-Being. Anything we could possibly perceive in our senses is the union of the principles in movement as all things and this is pure sexuality.

‘Love Without Duality’ reveals the possibility of a true way of relating as one, wholeness to wholeness, the Beloved to the Beloved. It evokes deep reading and subtle listening and right there, the heart already knows its highest possibility: Self-realisation.

The writing is kept in line with B’s verbal style to fully maintain the essence and transmission of his teaching. The flow of the chapters develops vertically, from the highest downwards, opening with subtle, abstract pieces and ending in down to earth and intimate dialogues about life in deepening partnership.

B speaks as Awareness to Awareness, Being to Being. His words arise in and address within the listener the immeasurable reality one is.

You will find that there is a silent transmission in the words that transcends the mental realm. In reading, be still, go slow, open and allow the words to permeate, percolate, awaken and ignite the sparks of your own heart’s knowing.

The Highest Possibility: Realisation

“In the manifest universe, all that truly exists is the union of the profound Masculine and Feminine moved in One Self, one body. To discover this in your relating within, to discover the other is within you, and be awakened in two bodies is the kind of enlightenment most people have no idea about.”

Two Realising The One

“It is possible for an apparent two to realise the One, to love the Beloved in another, in man and woman and realise union beyond all space and time. This is a rare realisation.”

Mostly we think of enlightenment as happening in a singular entity or individual, but there is also an entirely different realisation that is still very rare on earth: to awaken to man and woman as one being, one moving evolution of the life of this planet, appearing through what seems to be two bodies and two utterly different possibilities. It is possible for man and woman to be so one that they transcend all space and time and in that know one goodness, one God-ness, one love, one utter realisation with no beginning or end.

This will utterly change not only how man sees himself and woman sees herself, but change their purpose to ever be with another, for there is no self-orientation in this. There is nothing to gain for a self, only to give up the self to the greater calling to unify in love and in the making of love. Whether they physically make love together or make it in the unseen, love will be known and literally ‘made’ in these bodies.

That is the possibility. Should this become realised in their relationship together, they will know that this union is not actually of this planet. It is beyond all space and all time, moves beyond all space and time and yet floods all space and all time.

Even great realisers rarely speak of this possibility, of the realisation of the Masculine and Feminine Principles within bodies that will pass away, for God to behold God in Masculine and Feminine Consciousness. Where He and She come through and merge, they are not the self seen in the bathroom mirror. They are the pure light of Consciousness moving in union creating the manifest universe. They come from beyond the stars yet they form and move the planets and the stars. They seek intelligent forms of man and woman through whom they could for one moment alone have conscious form of true love's meeting.

This can be realised between man and woman who begin to see and know deeply, who discern through pure love and the deep engagement of their knowing inside. There is a marriage, a merging where all they know is 'no other.' Egoity is simply seen to be false, an illusion. There has never been two. 'I' has always been One. It is a relationship that is infinitely deeper than their body-mind identity, even deeper than this earth. This is what this earth is for.
