

INDIANAPOLIS THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

Learning Outcomes

The following are board-established distinctives of the school that shape the learning experience and form the curriculum. ITS graduates will be particularly adept at:

Hermeneutics & Biblical Theology proficient at reading and interpreting biblical Hebrew and Greek, appreciating the rhetorical functions of the biblical books in their original social contexts, comprehending the contours of redemptive history within a covenantal framework, and possessing a very high biblical literacy and trenchant understanding of the gospel.

Historical & Systematic Theology

conversant with the historic theological loci as well as their biblical bases and historical developments, and possessing a coherent and cogent Reformed worldview.

Cultural Apologetics

perceiving longstanding historical and philosophical trends that have created our cultural moment, discerning the source and interpreting the significance of contemporary events, and apologetically promoting the plausibility of the gospel.

Ministerial Leadership

able to powerfully articulate the gospel and a desire to spread the glory of God both in conversation and preaching, skilled at clear written and oral communication, understanding the central role of the local church in missions and evangelism, effective at personal discipleship and counseling, committed to the sufficiency of scripture, and proficient at leading others within organizational governance structures.

Spiritual Transformation

continually growing in Christ-likeness and bringing forth the fruits of the Spirit, having been transformed by the gospel, and living by grace, applying the gospel to all of life.
