Students participate in borderless Law

In 2015, students of Law Without Walls (right Without Borders), an international event bringing together law faculties from 27 universities, including the University of Montreal (UdeM), will reflect on practical solutions to the problems experienced in normative environments professionals. They will focus particularly on the employment prospects of young graduates and the relationship of lawyers with their clients. The students chosen to represent the UdeM will go to Dublin during next winter to meet with their counterparts in other universities, then in Miami in April. They have weekly meetings with their mentors and members of their team. "I see a golden opportunity for young lawyers to take part in an innovative business

Marie-Claude Rigaud, Professor and Secretary of the Faculty
