

Department:

Social Studies

Graduation Requirements:

4 Credits

Course Offerings:

World History 1 credit

This survey course covers the social, economic, political, religious, and geographic aspects of the development of humanity in various parts of the world. Special attention is given to the development of ancient Egypt, China, Greece, and Rome; the development of Europe and the Renaissance; and the rise of the Americas.

Prerequisite: None

World History Honors 1 credit

This survey course covers the social, economic, political, religious, and geographic aspects of the development of humanity in various parts of the world. Special attention is given to the development of ancient Egypt, China, Greece, and Rome; the development of Europe and the Renaissance; and the rise of the Americas. Students in this course are expected to complete more rigorous coursework and to routinely use higher thinking skills.

Prerequisite: Placement based on entrance exam scores and summer school evaluation.

Hawaiian History 1 credit

This course chronicles the development of Hawaii from the overthrow of Queen Liliuokalani, through the days of the Republic of Hawaii, the Territory of Hawaii, and the State of Hawaii. Significant events and persons are used to illustrate the dramatic changes that have taken place in these islands over the past 120 years, as well as addressing issues of modern importance to the people of Hawaii.

Prerequisite: None.

Hawaiian History Honors 1 credit

This course chronicles the development of Hawaii from the overthrow of Queen Liliuokalani, through the days of the Republic of Hawaii, the Territory of Hawaii, and the State of Hawaii. Significant events and persons are used to illustrate the dramatic changes that have taken place in these islands over the past 120 years, as well as addressing issues of modern importance to the people of Hawaii.

Students in this course are expected to complete more rigorous coursework and to routinely use higher thinking skills.

Prerequisite: B or better in World History Honors and teacher recommendation A in World History and teacher recommendation.

US History 1 credit

This is a survey course of the significant political, economic, social, cultural, and diplomatic developments in American history from colonization to the present. Students will use primary and secondary document analysis to address major themes including the changing nature of US democracy, the changing face of American society, and the changing role of the US in the world.

Prerequisite: None.

US History Honors 1 credit

This is a survey course of the significant political, economic, social, cultural, and diplomatic developments in American history from colonization to the present. Students will use primary and secondary document analysis to address major themes including the changing nature of US democracy, the changing face of American society, and the changing role of the US in the world. Students in this course are expected to complete more rigorous coursework and to routinely use higher thinking skills.

Prerequisite: B or better in Hawaiian History Honors and teacher recommendation A in Hawaiian History and teacher recommendation.

Government 0.5 credit

This course is a study of our American system of government. It looks at the philosophy developed by the Founding Fathers and what influenced that development. The course details the expression of that political philosophy, spelled out in the US Constitution, with particular emphasis placed on the first three articles and understanding the three branches of government they created.

Prerequisite: None

Government Honors 0.5 credit

This course is a study of our American system of government. It looks at the philosophy developed by the Founding Fathers and what influenced that development. The course details the expression of that political philosophy, spelled out in the US Constitution, with particular emphasis placed on the first three articles and understanding the three branches of government they created. Students in this course are expected to complete more rigorous coursework and to routinely use higher thinking skills.

Prerequisite: B or better in US History Honors and teacher recommendation A in US History and teacher recommendation.

Consumer Economics 0.5 credit

Consumers play a central role in market economies. This course looks at that role by examining consumer purchasing decisions. Topics include owning vs. renting, borrowing, saving, investing, financing, credit cards, conspicuous consumption, advertising, and consumer law. While learning how to make informed purchasing decisions, students also gain an understanding of fundamental economic concepts.

Prerequisite: Enrollment in Government or Government Honors

Economics 0.5 elective credit

This course is designed to develop an understanding of fundamental economic principles and of the American economic system. Emphasis is placed on comparative economic systems, economic institutions in the United States, and the international marketplace.

Prerequisite: Open to Juniors and Seniors only.

Street Law 0.5 elective credit

This course is designed to develop in students the knowledge and skills necessary to live in our law-saturated society. It provides a practical understanding of the law and the legal system that will be of use to students in their everyday lives. The course covers an overview of the legal system, an overview of criminal law and the criminal justice system, and an overview of civil (tort) law.

Prerequisite: Open to Juniors and Seniors only.