

STICK TO LOCAL FARMS

Bicycle Tour C – for moderate cyclists

This challenging, beautiful, 15-mile tour encompassing seven growers begins at Kelder's Farm, with its giant garden gnome and sweeping views of 100 acres of mixed you-pick crops. Bell's Christmas Trees looks festive even in the summer, with rows of evergreens and picturesque red barns, including a few happy black and white cows in residence, too. Owned by a 12th-generation farmer, Flying Change Farm has gorgeous horses gamboling in green paddocks. It's very challenging to grow apples organically in the Hudson Valley, but at Westwind Orchard they do, plus there are delicious berries and vegetables, and a farm market and pizza oven on many weekends. Hollengold Farm is the work of botanical artist Wendy Hollender and features many of the plants found in Wendy's drawings and prints. Hops are grown at Arrowood Farm, which has recently added a brewery. A flock of ducks is also in residence. Saunderskill Farm Market is owned by the second oldest farm in the nation, surrounded by pick-your-own fields and offering home-baked goodies and prepared foods, with comfortable indoor and outdoor seating.
