

Kidnappings in Mexico - Ya Basta!

I am a native of Mexico City, and in 2004 I returned to discover that the country was awash in kidnappings. Between the fall of 2004 and January 2007, I produced and directed a documentary film, Ya Basta: Kidnapped in Mexico (TRT: 75-minutes). Using interviews with victims, Mexican law enforcement, and a variety of experts, I explored the wave of kidnappings and crime that have swept over Mexico in the last decade.

Film Festival Screenings:

South by Southwest Film Festival, Austin, Texas, March 2007

Cine de las Americas Film Festival, Austin, Texas, April 2007

Festival en Corto, San Miguel de Allende/Guanajuato, Mexico, June 2007

Festival de Morelia, Morelia, Mexico, October 2007

Leeds Film Festival, Leeds, United Kingdom, November 2007

Lonestar International Film Festival, Fort Worth, November 2007

Festival Internacional de Puebla, Puebla, Mexico, November 2008