Mission

SAKALA serves as Cité Soleil’s only youth community center, to develop children and young adults through athletics, agronomy, and education. Founded as a Pax Christi peacebuilding project, SAKALA builds people of courage and character, to strengthen the families and communities of Cité Soleil.

Vision

SAKALA works to the future where every child of Cité Soleil can join positive groups and programs, readily and freely available. We see a future where each of these children chooses a peaceful alternative to armed groups and violence. SAKALA seeks to inspire the 150,000 children of Cité Soleil, in a way that one day a new Cité Soleil will inspire a new Haiti.

VALUES

Encouragement  Integrity  Peaceful Resolution  Commitment  Service

SAKALA was established in 2002 by 9 Haitian young adults.
My Dear Friends,
We are delighted to share more good news with you for the beginning of the 2018-2019 fiscal year! Our office wall is now running out of space for new awards and recognition, both from outside Haiti as well as from within. The publishing company Deschamps has awarded us with their esteemed Humanitarian Prize for 2017, and the US Embassy recognized Board Chairman, Daniel Tillias, as a “Hero of Girls’ Rights.” SAKALA’s efforts have contributed to the Haitian National Police Chief again lauding Cité Soleil as the “safest community in the country” for two years in a row. We also helped to launch a large campaign for developing a community library for the city, with support from people throughout Haiti. Celebrities have praised our efforts while visiting Cité Soleil, impressed with an atmosphere of safety and respect.

In recent news coverage and reporting, there is a new perception of this community: the longtime “Red Zone” designation that Cité Soleil has held is now trending toward “Green.” Gardens are flourishing in many places throughout the community, and previously armed groups are now transitioning toward community development efforts.

These are some great signs that helped me evidentially understand the value of SAKALA’s work in the community of Cité Soleil. It reminds me of the importance of efforts like ours, not because of their size, but because of their significance. Our work springs not from a single person, but from a community that chooses hope amid all the signs of despair. This wonderful group of people supports us in our movement to use human energy as a catalyst for change, within the most marginalized community of all Haiti. Furthermore, the successes of SAKALA provide a path for other communities to overcome the same challenges now facing ours.

Our greatest achievement in Athletics this year was to see the entire country watching a girl from SAKALA playing in the soccer world cup in France. In Education, we were so glad to attend the university graduation of our first Agronomy student. This past year, we also launched 20 agro micro-businesses that Chairman’s Message

Daniel co-founded SAKALA in 2002 with 9 other young people in an effort to promote peace, reconciliation, tolerance, and truth for a new Haiti. The son of a pastor, Daniel grew up in Cité Soleil, the largest underdeveloped area in Haiti. During his early childhood, he witnessed first-hand the misery and understood the roots of the violence that continues today.

Daniel introduced sports as a means of peacebuilding, through the SAKALA youth empowerment program, which now incorporates athletics, agronomy, and educational activities for 250 youth from different neighborhoods in Cité Soleil. Daniel is a well-respected community leader and the recipient of several awards for his peace efforts.

help to support 100 young adults in the community. We hope that these positive outcomes demonstrate the importance SAKALA sees in developing the children and young adults of Cité Soleil, and how much we want them to fulfill our motto, that “With a dream, everything is possible.”

I am honored to know that all of this has been achieved by a staff which has received very low stipend levels over the past three years. It is incredible to see a committed group of people accomplish so much, with a desire in their heart to give their community something better. This is one of the motivations for adopting a new organizational structure, one where I can devote more time and energy to developing funding sources, to prevent this project coming to an end. This is my new call to friends all around the globe, who have always seen in SAKALA an alternative to many, too many, neglected kids who will not make it without our help. We want to take the time to renew our gratitude to all our faithful supporters who make this story a reality of transformation for the well-deserved children of the sun, of the City of the Sun... Cité Soleil.

Great thanks to all our partners, who keep committing to support our efforts. I believe we can do far more with further resources. As SAKALA Board Chairman, I want to use the voice of the entire board to congratulate everyone one who has contributed this success. I hope that SAKALA may continue to inspire a new Cité Soleil, in such a way that inspires a new Haiti, and perhaps an entire world.

Let us change the world, a little bit at a time, in small ways, but always sure. Let us strive for peace for the hundred-thousand kids of Cité Soleil, for love of the people of Haiti, and for a better world-- let’s join our energy to do more.
