FAS Diagnostic and Prevention Network

The Washington State Fetal Alcohol Syndrome Diagnostic & Prevention Network is a network of FASD diagnostic clinics linked by the core clinic at the Center on Human Development and Disability at the University of Washington. Each clinic in the network uses the same interdisciplinary approach to diagnosis and the same systematic diagnostic method called the 4-Digit Diagnostic Code. The mission of the FAS DPN is primary and secondary prevention of FAS through screening, diagnosis, intervention, training, education, and research.

One Sky Center, The American Indian/Alaska Native National Resource Center for Substance Abuse

The mission of the One Sky Center is to improve prevention and treatment of substance abuse among Native people, by promoting culturally appropriate services, identifying and disseminating evidence-based practices, and providing training and technical assistance.
