THIS RETREAT IS SILENT

You can arrive on Friday, from 3:00 onward, with supper at 5:30. Silence begins Friday evening after the welcome and introductions and ends around 1:30pm at the sharing time on Sunday.

The Anglican liturgy is followed at each session; however, these retreats are attended by women from a variety of Christian traditions and those seeking a spiritual connection. Although the retreat is silent, you will find that community is built with responses to prayers, in song, smiles and friendly gestures.

The silence is a gift for you, God and the other women on the retreat

Should you find the need to talk to someone, you are most welcome to meet with the spiritual director or a WIWR committee member.

Nutritious meals are taken in silence and served cafeteria style.

Rooms are private. Washrooms and shower facilities are shared.

SCHEDULE

Friday: 5:30pm supper – conversation encouraged!

7:00pm - Silence begins after the introductions of the participants and the spiritual director who will present the theme for the weekend. Compline, a short traditional Anglican service ends our evening together.

Saturday: Over the course of the day, there is a series of 3 prayer sessions followed by thought provoking, spiritually directed talks. The Eucharist is celebrated before lunch.

Sunday: Morning Prayer, followed by the concluding talk. Mass and Eucharist are celebrated before lunch on Sunday.

A voluntary Thank Offering is given at Sunday communion. This is shared with the Sisters at Ermitage Ste. Croix and WIWR. After lunch we have a sharing time (if you feel so inclined) of your experience of the weekend.

Between sessions: Renewal time - rest, walk, read, meditate, pray, write, explore your artistic side with artwork, consult with the spiritual director or whatever you need to enjoy the peace.
