The project is a public library for children and youth in a rural area. It includes 4 round-plan thatched buildings and an open space for gatherings and performances.