Scholar-In-Residence
Rabbi Joshua Feigelson
Thursday, December 8 – Sunday, December 11

Rabbi Joshua Feigelson is the founder and Executive Director of “Ask Big Questions” – a non-profit organization dedicated to helping Jewish people engage in meaningful conversations about issues that impact their communities. Rabbi Feigelson is the former Hillel Director at Northwestern University. He created “Ask Big Questions” in 2005 as an outreach effort during the High Holy Days. He soon realized that the opportunity to engage in deep conversations about purpose, identity, and responsibility builds trust, strengthens community and deepens understanding across lines of difference – be they religious, political, gender-based, racial, or any other barriers that we build to separate ourselves from one another.

Although it began as a college-based program, Rabbi Feigelson has broadened the scope of “Ask Big Questions” to work with synagogues and organizations around the country. Rabbi Feigelson is also a very talented musician. During his time in Denver, he will be sharing his scholarship and methodology in order to help us grow as a community.

I’m writing this article shortly after submitting my mail-in ballot for this year’s election. By the time you read this, we will (hopefully) know the results of this year’s presidential election. Whatever the outcome of this election, I’m afraid that the bitterness that preceded it will not fade away with the final ballot count. On numerous occasions I have both spoken and written about my concerns about how our nation - and this election cycle in particular – is increasingly becoming polarized. The vitriol and vituperativeness that has characterized our national political discourse has been very painful to watch. One of the gifts that Judaism has to offer our country is the ability to live with diverse opinions and to find compromise in just about any situation. This is something that we need today more than ever.

Hanukah will soon be here. This joyous festival reminds us of many things: light in the midst of darkness; the victory of good over evil; the reality and importance of miracles in our lives. But there is another, perhaps darker, aspect of the Hanukah story that is often overlooked. Most scholars agree that the story of Hanukah with which most of us are familiar is, at best, only half of what really happened. The true story of Hanukah has more to do with internal conflict than with oil and miracles.

The Maccabees did not only fight against the Antiochus and the Hellenized Assyrians who desecrated the Temple. Most scholars agree that an important part of the Maccabean revolt was, in no small way, to help the Jewish people heal the rifts created by their disagreements. This is one of the reasons why the Hanukah menorah has always been such an important symbol throughout history. It is no less important today. Our task, in the aftermath of this election, is to view the Hanukah candles as beacons of hope and healing. Each candle sheds a separate light, yet together they serve to bring warmth and joy into our homes and our hearts. While we, as a nation, may differ on social and political issues, we are united in our love of country, community, and the values upon which our nation was founded. There is still a great deal of work to be done to make our world more complete. May we learn to see the light of the Hanukah Menorah as a symbol of all that is good in our society.

I also want to encourage you to come and study with our Scholar in Residence, Rabbi Dr. Joshua Feigelson who will be with us from Thursday, December 8 – Sunday, December 11. I look forward to seeing you at the many Hanukah celebrations here at Temple and around the community. B’shalom V’yididut.
A Sincere Thank You

As you can imagine, it takes a lot of effort on behalf of many to ensure that the High Holy Days at Temple Emanuel run smoothly. On behalf of the Board of Trustees, I would like to sincerely thank The Harold and Cecile Cohan Family Trust and Donald Brenner on behalf of the Shirley Doppelt Trust for generously underwriting our new prayer books. I would also like to thank The Ruby S. and Michael Baum, Erma and Nate Baum Pulpit Fund, Carl and Richard Tucker Music Fund, and Richard and Marcia Robinson and Edward and Susan Robinson for their financial support that helped to enhance and enrich our High Holiday worship. Thank you to all who provided technical support this year – Shaun Wall and Dan Sjaastad, who handled the sound in the sanctuary and, Doug Velick along with Spectrum AV, who assisted us with the visual tefillah. All of the professional musicians and the High Holy Day Choir truly brought our worship experience to new heights and we thank them as well.

A big shout out to our religious education, youth, and camp teams who ensured that worship at our alternative Shwayder location and the activities for the younger members were engaging and meaningful. Thanks to the leadership of Julie Eber and the many volunteers who participated, the High Holy Day Experience was a great success in Jewish learning. We are grateful for the almost 50 individuals who served as ushers and especially for Andy Thangasamy who once again coordinated this effort. This team made our building warm and welcoming and were there to help wherever needed. We are also indebted to and thank the many individuals who provided safety and security for all of us. Finally, a huge thank you to our building and grounds crew who work to set things up and keep everything running smoothly during our days of prayer and throughout the year.

Of course I would also like to thank our clergy team - Rabbi Black, Rabbi Immerman, Cantor Sacks, and Steve Brodsky - whose dedication, passion, and talent provided us all with the opportunity for spiritual renewal. We thank each of them individually and collectively.

Thank you to Steven Stark, Rabbi Black and the entire Temple Emanuel staff. We appreciate so much all that you do to enrich our spiritual journey and to create a welcoming environment at Temple Emanuel.

L’shana Tova. A Happy and Healthy New Year!

– Ellen Abrams – on behalf of the Board of Trustees

Denver Interfaith Thanksgiving Service

Thursday, November 24, 10:00 a.m.
Central Christian Church • 3690 Cherry Creek S. Dr. • Denver, CO 80209

Join Rabbi Immerman and Cantor Sacks for a meaningful start to your Thanksgiving Day celebration. This service goes back over a century and includes ritual representing the diverse faith traditions from the Denver Metro Area including spiritual leaders from Jewish, Buddhist, Christian, and Islamic congregations and more.
We are just a few weeks in to 5777 and I am feeling a great sense of gratitude, pride, and community. It was exhilarating to experience the energy of 2,000+ families being in the building. As I greet and welcome everyone into the building, I see happy reunions amongst old friends, connections between families, the new and long-time members making their way into the sacred space so that we can pray together in holy community. I am proud of how open and welcoming we are. As the largest synagogue in metro area, I know that our size can lead to members feeling anonymous. I know that our congregants go out of their way to be friendly, create a sense of community, and welcome each person and family.

It is also our clergy, professional staff and lay leaders who create an environment that strives to be welcoming and warm. I want to publicly acknowledge the work of our fabulous clergy, our dedicated professional staff, the maintenance team, the board of trustees and all of our many volunteers. It is no small task to prepare for the many services and programs that go on during these busy times. Thank you; we cannot do it without you!

It was particularly poignant this year as Rabbi Black acknowledged the changing face of Temple, the staff changes, the facility changes at Shwayder, and the introduction of Mishkan HaNefesh. It was truly a celebration of the old and the new. It was a season of blending and balancing: an appreciation of both new and old liturgy, familiar melodies and some new tunes, introspection and communal prayer, familiar faces, and welcomed additions!

It is our open and varied programming that lends itself to making Temple a meaningful and relevant part of the lives of our congregants. Now it takes you to engage and make Temple a central part of your life! We look forward to seeing you for prayer, study and social action. Let me know your thoughts about how to make your connection to Temple more meaningful and our congregation more vibrant!

Great Things Ahead

Did you move, change phone numbers or emails? Please keep us up to date with your most current information so you don’t miss any Temple information! Send changes to veta@EmanuelDenver.org.

GOT TUNA?

Jewish Family Service depends on us for tuna. Thank you for continuing to bring cans of tuna when you come to Temple!

Temple Emanuel Honors Pink Shabbat

Shabbat Community Service
November 12, 10:30 a.m.
Temple Emanuel together with Jewish Colorado and Sharsheret will celebrate Breast Cancer Awareness Shabbat.

Through spirited song and shared stories, we will lift up the importance of joining together as a community to support those facing this disease and to raise awareness of how we can all make a difference.
Mandell Winter, Jr. inherited a rich family tradition at Temple Emanuel, one dating back to the 1880s – only a few years after its founding in 1874. His great-grandparents were married by Rabbi William S. Friedman. His grandfather served as President of the Congregation. His father served as the Temple Administrator for nearly 28 years, starting just after overseeing construction of the current building in the mid 1950’s as chair of the Congregation’s Building and Grounds committee. His great uncle was Maurice Shwayder. Mandell, his father, and grandfather all served as presidents of the Brotherhood and on the Temple board. Four generations of confirmands.

So it’s no surprise Mandell would embrace this tradition of service as a Board member, President of the Brotherhood, in the Friedman Club, Shwayder Camp camper, counselor and photographer; and with Pat, in the first Chavurah which continued for over 20 years. “Temple Emanuel is part of my life,” Mandell explained, “it’s a part of me.”

Pat Winter would find a different path to Judaism. “In my search for a meaningful religious experience, in Judaism I found I could question. I didn’t have to accept teaching as fact, but as guidance for a spiritual life.”

Alongside Mandell, Pat would also enter deeply into Temple life, serving on the Board, chairing the Shwayder Camp Committee, and also by writing a booklet to help parents navigate the process of their children’s Bar or Bat Mitzvah. “In some ways I was probably still proving myself to Mandell’s family,” she joked, “but I also felt a profound responsibility to the Temple community.” Neither having celebrated Bar or Bat Mitzvah at 13, both went through the Adult B’nai Mitzvah program.

Although the idea for an estate gift had arisen before, Mandell and Pat decided to move forward during a visit with their attorney. Mandell’s professional background in financial planning and Pat’s work in fundraising at Children’s Hospital helped inform their decision.

“We knew we could make a gift and still provide for our boys,” Pat said. “Our attorney raised the question and we just felt the time was right.”

Mandell elaborated further on their decision, citing a central question in Jewish life. “How can we best express Tikkan Olam – our calling to repair the world? The Jewish community embraces this responsibility in many ways and Temple Emanuel is the heart of this conversation for us. We want our gift to help ensure the continuation of our Congregation.”

There are many ways to make an estate gift. Some are simple, others more involved. Some gifts are large, others small. By coming together, we can all help preserve our Temple into the future.

“Temple Emanuel opens its doors,” Pat observed, “to interfaith opportunities, allowing us to reaffirm our shared humanity. We have an important voice.”

Mandell concurred, adding, “The Congregation makes a difference in our community. From Rabbi Friedman’s being a founder of Denver’s Community Chest which became The United Way, until today, it matters. It’s our sincere hope our Congregation will thrive for generations to come.”

For more information about estate planning or Temple Emanuel’s Live On Society, please contact Francie Miran at miran@emanueldenver.org or 303.388.4013, ex. 335.
Long before Adam Sandler was writing catchy Hanukkah songs, our people have been filling our homes with the sounds of laughter and spinning dreidels, debating how best to perfect our family’s latke recipe (come ask me and I’ll give you my secret step that guarantees amazingly crispy goodness!).

The Festival of Lights. How perfect that during a time in the year when our days are the shortest, we gather around as a family and literally bring more light into the world as we light our hanukiah. When I was young, my family used to brainstorm ways that we could figuratively bring more light into the world, as well. Some years our parents gave us the money that they would have spent on that night’s gifts and we made a donation to a charity to which we felt a connection. Other years we gave gifts to those less fortunate than us in order to brighten up their life, if only for a moment.

There are a lot of pieces of Judaism that I love, but one sticks out above the others. For me, Judaism offers me a way to apply themes of holidays to my daily life. For example, during Passover we sit around the Seder and retell the Israelites’ story of slavery, but we also acknowledge how these themes are still relevant today – and how we as Jews, having known slavery, have a duty to speak up when we see injustices being committed against others. Hanukkah offers the same opportunity when we think about “miracles.” We celebrate the miracles of the holiday (the few defeating the many / oil lasting 8 days), and we are also tasked with celebrating the miracles that we experience today, such as health, family, love, and so many more.

And then we have the opportunity to come together as a community and celebrate together. I hope that you’ll join me at this year’s Hanukah Hoopla, Friday, December 30, when we can eat some perfectly crispy latkes and reflect together on the light we can help to bring into this world.
I hope you all had a wonderful High Holy Day season. Our first round of chavurot for the new year are up and running. So far we have a social justice, singles and couples over 50, families wanting to celebrate holidays together, and Mah Jongg. If you are still interested in joining a chavurah it is not too late. Our next round of engagement opportunities will include a Jewish cooking class, a grief group, a prayer class, and an adult Hebrew class. If you are interested in any of these classes, please let me know by Thursday, November 24.

Join us on Friday, November 18 as we welcome all of our new Temple Emanuel members from July 2016 through November 2016. We are thrilled that over 40 families have chosen to make Temple Emanuel their new home. That evening will include a Shabbat dinner and a special blessing for all new members during services. Please make your dinner reservation by Wednesday, November 16 by calling 303.388.4013.

I am making it my mission to get to know as many of you as possible. I would love to meet with you and hear your story. If you want to grab a cup of coffee and chat, please call me and we can schedule a time to meet. I can be reached at 303.388.4013, ext. 305 or by email at brown@EmanuelDenver.org.

As many of you heard on Kol Nidre, Temple Emanuel is taking on a new community wide project with Family Promise. We are thrilled to have this opportunity to participate in Tikkun Olam, making the world a better place. We are partnering with Family Promise to house temporarily homeless families at Temple Emanuel four times a year for a week at a time. Our chair people for this community wide project are Deb Herman, DeboHerman@gmail.com, Susie Moss, Susie.Moss@earthlink.net, and Sherry Stark, sherrystark519@gmail.com. They will be reaching out to our entire community to help in this amazing undertaking. It will take more than 100 volunteers to make this a successful project. We are looking for volunteers to help with everything from laundry, cooking food, to babysitting. We will be having two informational meetings: one on Thursday, November 17 and the other in early December. At Hanukah Hoopla, Friday, December 30 we will be having a donation drive to collect items we will need in order to host families at Temple. Check your enotes for specific dates and times. Please take this opportunity to get involved and help end homelessness one family at a time. You can learn more or sign up for a meeting on our website at www.EmanuelDenver.org/Family-Promise.

We Need You!

Temple Emanuel Mental Health Task Force • ext. 307

The Mental Health Task Force at Temple Emanuel is looking for new members. We are a group of congregants working together with the Temple clergy and staff to help reduce the stigma of mental illness in our community. We are striving to advance the Judaic tenant of the unity of body, mind, and spirit by increasing awareness and overcoming barriers and decreasing isolation. We organize programs, provide educational material, and do in-services for Temple staff, etc.

We would love to have you join our efforts. We meet monthly. Please contact Laurie Picus at lapicus@aol.com if you would like to join or would like more information. We welcome you to our Task Force!
EARLY CHILDHOOD CENTER

Early Childhood Center News
By Susan Wartchow • wartchow@EmanuelDenver.org • ext. 319

Teaching Jewish values and concepts is an important part of our everyday practice in the Early Childhood Center. We seamlessly weave these values into children’s experiences throughout the day joined with the Reggio Emilia philosophy. This is an innovative approach to early childhood education which values the child as strong, capable, and resilient; rich with wonder and knowledge. Every child brings with them deep curiosity and potential and this innate curiosity drives their interest to understand their world and their place within it.

Fundamental principles of this approach are:
1. Children are capable of constructing their own learning.
2. Children form an understanding of themselves and their place in the world through their interactions with others.
3. There is a strong focus on social collaboration and having their thoughts and questions valued.
4. Communication is a process, a way of discovering things, asking questions, using language as play.
5. Children are encouraged to use language to investigate and explore, to reflect on their experiences. They are listened to with respect, believing that their questions and observations are an opportunity to learn and search together.
6. The environment is the third teacher.
7. The adult is a mentor and guide.
8. An emphasis on documenting children’s thoughts.

Children thrive and learn best when their interests are captured. When we create environments where we co-construct learning between adult and child, magic truly happens!
