Introducing Mishkan HaNefesh

By Rabbi Joseph R. Black • black@EmanuelDenver.org • ext. 308

On Erev Rosh Hashanah, Sunday night, October 2, we will once again come together as a community to proclaim the beginning of a new year, 5777. The High Holy Days are a time when we celebrate the past and look ahead to the future. We acknowledge our frailty and failures and resolve to make amends. We ask one another for forgiveness and pledge to improve ourselves and the world around us.

Temple Emanuel has a proud tradition of meaningful worship during the High Holy Days. This year will be no different. Our beautiful sanctuary will be filled with members of our sacred community. Cantor Sacks and Steve Brodsky, our Organist Ken Mervine, along with instrumentalists and our High Holy Day Choir will share familiar and sacred music. Rabbis Immerman, Foster and I will deliver sermons at various services. The sound of the shofar and the words of Kol Nidre will remind us of the urgency of our prayers.

And yet, some things about this year’s Holy Days will be different. As you all know by now, this year we will be introducing our movement’s new High Holy Day prayerbook, Mishkan HaNefesh (“The Sanctuary of the Soul.”) Just as our former prayerbook, Gates of Repentance, was created in 1978 to mirror the world-view of its time, in the 36+ years that have passed since its publication, our movement has evolved as well. We needed to reflect the changes, values, and language of the present. Mishkan HaNefesh provides us with new perspectives that speak in ways that its predecessor could not.

In the pages of this bulletin, each member of our clergy team shares different aspects of how and why this new prayerbook is an important addition to our spiritual life. Rabbi Immerman explores ideology, theology, and “God Language.” Cantor Sacks shares how the book is designed to be accessible through transliteration and communal participation. Steve Brodsky unpacks the structure and aesthetics of the text.

All change is difficult. Nonetheless, we are excited about the potential for innovative, meaningful and inclusive worship that our new prayerbook provides. In addition to these bulletin articles, we also will be offering several forums to learn more about Mishkan HaNefesh in the coming weeks as we prepare ourselves and our souls for this sacred time.

I look forward to seeing all of you during the High Holy Days. May the coming year, 5777, bring us all new perspectives and opportunities for renewal of ourselves and our souls.

Sue, Elana, and Ethan join me in wishing you a Shanah Tovah U’metukah – a good and sweet new year.

Integrated Theology in Mishkan HaNefesh

By Rabbi Brian Immerman • immerman@EmanuelDenver.org • ext. 311

At the beginning of tenth grade I ask the confirmation students to articulate their beliefs in God. In order to make this less daunting, we begin with an activity called God Shopping, in which the students choose from pieces of paper with 25 different attributes of God that speak to them. Some choose Protector and Partner, others choose Creator and Healer, others choose the piece labeled “doesn’t exist,” and some take blank pieces and write words that I didn’t include. The students create unique collages of their beliefs, each one just as valid and Jewish as their peers. I always participate in this exercise, and each year my collage changes as my belief in the divine evolves from year to year.

Wrestling with God is at the heart of the Jewish people. Jacob wrestled with God and was given the name Israel, which means the one who wrestles with God. We all wrestle at times with our beliefs. The editorial team for Mishkan HaNefesh addresses this issue by including many different references to God in order help the reader “encounter and experience God in interesting and meaningful ways,” an approach which they call Integrated Theology.

Mishkan HaNefesh juxtaposes different and sometimes even contradictory theologies throughout the prayerbook in order to help us all connect to the spirituality of the High Holy Days no matter our path on our personal faith journeys.

The most prominent change we will encounter upon opening our prayerbooks is the gender-neutral translations of God, forgoing the masculine ‘He’ and ‘His’ for many, more inclusive translations, that we have grown accustomed to using on Shabbat in Mishkan T’filah. We will also notice many alternative readings that use a myriad of metaphors for the Divine and how we might interact with our spirituality. These address the many attributes of God that we may or may not include as part of our belief.

I encourage you to do your own “God Shopping” this High Holy Days by exploring the prayerbook and noticing the theological language speaks to you and your beliefs. I hope you find the same meaning and inspiration as I have found in Mishkan HaNefesh. In the year 5777 may we find renewed expressions of our faith to strengthen ourselves and our community and may it be a sweet and happy new year. L’shanah Tovah U’metukah.

Open the Gates: May All Who Enter Come and Pray

Mishkan HaNefesh and Full Transliteration

Cantor Elizabeth Sacks • sacks@EmanuelDenver.org • ext. 309

Rosh Hashanah is a moment of opening.
The gates of repentance swing wide…the portals are unlocked and open.” Rabbi Laura Lieber, Divrei Mishkan HaNefesh: A Guide to the CCAR Machzor

During the season of the Days of Awe, we repeatedly invoke the image of open gates. God is listening, we say; let us usher in our prayers. Let us welcome our entire community to join as one in ancient words infused with new hopes.

On Rosh HaShanah and Yom Kippur we proudly open our gates – the doors of Temple Emanuel – to our vibrant and diverse congregation. Our congregation includes families and individuals from many paths and backgrounds, and we welcome everyone to lift his or her voice in prayer. Our sanctuary reverberates with the sound of our many voices, speaking and singing together.

This year, we are excited to continue and expand our practice of participatory worship through one of the central innovations in Mishkan HaNefesh: fully transliterated liturgy. For the first time in the history of the Reform Movement, the entire Hebrew liturgy is also rendered in English characters.

Our worship services have always been a combination of Hebrew and English – interweaving and connecting our ancient holy language with profound and moving contemporary readings in the vernacular. The full transliteration in Mishkan HaNefesh will now allow everyone to have complete access to participation, regardless of language – to hear, to sing, to read, to understand, to pray wholeheartedly however they would choose.

On these Yamim Noraim – these Days of Awe, when we celebrate the opening of heaven, may we embrace the openness of our community, and may we open our minds, our lips, and our hearts to the prayers of this season.
The adoption of Mishkan HaNefesh, our new machzor (High Holy Day prayer book) for the High Holy Days, presents our congregation with many exciting opportunities. Rabbi Black, Rabbi Immerman, Cantor Sacks and I have spent the last several months exploring and discussing the new machzor, and carefully and intentionally planning our upcoming High Holy Day worship. We are very excited about all that Mishkan HaNefesh offers, and feel confident that you will find this refreshing new prayer book accessible, meaningful, and moving.

As we will be using the new prayer book for the first time this year, here are some important things to know about what’s included inside:

:: Mishkan HaNefesh continues the “integrated theology” approach that has become familiar with our Shabbat prayer book, Mishkan T’filah. This means that the majority of the book features a “two page” spread.

:: Blue Pages: In addition to the left-side readings, there are pages with a blue-shaded background and a black border. These pages include study texts that provide background and context to the traditional liturgy, and are generally meant to be read silently.

:: Footnotes: Many pages feature explanations and footnotes below a thin line at the bottom of the page. These “sublinear” commentaries offer additional insights from our tradition to deepen the worshiper’s understanding of and connection to the liturgy.

:: The unique structure and many options offered by Mishkan HaNefesh encourage individual worshipers to engage personally with the liturgy by exploring the book on their own. We recognize that not everyone will follow the exact path set by the leader—some people may be moved by a particular reading and linger on that page, others may become interested in a section of sublinear commentary, or inspired by a meditation, and wind up moving through the service at their own pace. We hope that everyone will find something within the covers of the prayer book that will touch their heart, evoke their spirituality, and stir their soul.

I look forward to sharing the upcoming Days of Awe with you, and to exploring our new machzor together.
Since We Last Spoke...

What an incredible year this has been… a year filled with transitions - both glorious welcomes and bittersweet farewells, tearing down and building up, all with our focus on growth and the future of our congregation.

Over the summer, we have welcomed to the Temple Emanuel family Zachary Rolf, our new Director of Learning and Engagement, and Sarah Brown, our new Director of Adult Engagement. Zach comes to us, with a plethora of experience, wonderful ideas, and a genuine warmth, from New York City where he was the religious school director at Central Synagogue. Sarah Brown is well known to Temple Emanuel families, as she has served for many years as a dynamic and energetic religious school teacher. We continue to evolve our worship experience with Cantor Sacks as Senior Cantor and Cantorial Soloist Steve Brodsky. We look forward to great things from our new team! In our year of transitions, we have said farewell with much fanfare to both Cantor Heit and Ron Leff; we wish them the best in their future endeavors!

Transitions abound not only with personnel, but with congregational milestones and facilities. Changes are underway as a result of tremendous growth in our religious school. In the coming years, we will joyously celebrate more students becoming bar and bat mitzvah than there are Saturdays on the calendar! Our B’nai Mitzvah task force did a masterful job of analyzing this wonderful situation and helped to create a process to accommodate for each simcha in the Temple community. Separately, we have established a new Hospitality Task Force to look at ways of making Temple Emanuel more inviting, hospitable and secure.

We also started much needed renovations at Shwayder Camp, as we broke ground on the construction project. There are beautiful new buildings and an already popular and often used sports field. More exciting Shwayder Camp construction updates to come! The capital campaign to fund this effort is in high gear; please consider a donation to support the ongoing improvements to our beloved camp.

During this High Holy Day season we will have the opportunity to reflect on our own personal transitions and the ones we hope to make in the year to come. Together we welcome 5777; and in this new year, I wish you all joy, fulfillment, good health, and personal growth. Shanah Tovah U’metukah – May it be a good and sweet year for all!
Shwayder Camp

The Shwayder Camp Capital Campaign has raised over $3.5 million and construction has started! A new cabin building was available for two new camper groups at the beginning of the summer and a beautiful new barn was completed as well. Between gifts and proceeds from the Shwayder 65th anniversary, 350 people have contributed amounts ranging from $5 to $1 million. Another $1.5 million will be needed to complete the construction and create a maintenance endowment to ensure future upkeep of the camp.

2016 Fundraising Concert

Our 2016 Fundraising Concert honored our retiring Senior Cantor Regina Heit for her extraordinary contributions to our congregation, our community and the Jewish people. It was a special and bittersweet evening as we bid goodbye to our beloved Cantor. The concert by four of the leading ladies of contemporary Jewish Music - Michelle Citrin, Beth Schafer, Julie Silver and Peri Smilow – was amazing and perfectly fit the mood of the tribute. The event hosted more than 750 attendees and raised more than $250,000 for scholarships, music and programming.

Development

I found a fruitful world, because my ancestors planted it for me. Likewise I am planting for my children.

– Talmud, Taanit 23a

These are the words that guide me every day in my work as Development Manager at Temple Emanuel—thinking about making Temple the best it can be for our cherished community and about how we will ensure that future generations can experience our wonderful religious community. Clearly many of you think about this as well. You have been so generous this year with your commitment to Temple now and for the future. With your support, we have been able to accomplish many things.

Live On Society

Temple Emanuel established the Live On Society to honor and recognize those that remember us in their estate plans. Including Temple Emanuel in your estate plan adds to the Temple’s legacy by helping grow Temple’s endowment. Examples include a charitable bequest in your will or living trust, or naming Temple Emanuel as a beneficiary of a life insurance policy or retirement plan. The Live On Society currently has 110 members. Since 2006 we have received gifts from 35 families totaling over $940,000. Being part of the Live On Society strengthens the sacred bond linking generation to generation and is an investment in the future of Temple Emanuel. For more information, visit www.emanueldenver.org/live-on-society.

ECC Auction

Temple Emanuel’s ECC Auction raised more than $40,000 for scholarships and playground improvements to develop a Naturescape design focused on child development. Thanks to the hard work of the committee and the generous donations of our community, construction is beginning on the project.

Revenues

Each year less than 50% of our operating budget is covered by dues, the rest must be secured in other ways. We want to continue to have membership and education programs be affordable because we believe that every person who wants to be part of our community should be regardless of their ability to pay the full cost. This is why your support is key to our success.

Celebrating New Beginnings

By Zachary Rolf • rolf@EmanuelDenver.org • ext. 325

As a child, the end of summer often came with mixed feelings. I was sad that I had to wait a whole ten months until I could be surrounded by my camp friends again. At the same time, I quickly fell back into my school year routine and saw all my other friends that I hadn’t seen in what felt like forever. The end of summer, the beginning of the school year, and the High Holy Days all felt like the kickoff to another year. It was a time for new beginnings.

Those feelings resonate strongly with me every year, but especially this year as my wife Hadley and I have traded in New York City skyscrapers for mountain peaks and crowded subway commutes for picturesque hiking through this beautiful state. It is a new beginning indeed.

Judaism teaches us that new beginnings are something to be celebrated. How many times have we found ourselves in the sanctuary, or at camp, with our arms wrapped around our neighbor signing the shehecheyanu, swaying side to side? Our tradition gives us the tools to mark these times in our lives and acknowledge how special they are.

Here at Emanuel, the Learning and Engagement team is hard at work (and having a lot of fun, too!) to ensure that each time you step into the building, not just at the beginning of the year, is filled with joy and connection and meaning. We are poised for an awesome year and I am eager to get to know as many of you as is physically possible and as quickly as I can.

Praised are You, Eternal our God, Sovereign of all: for giving us life, sustaining us, and enabling us to reach this season.

ADULT ENGAGEMENT

Our New Director of Adult Engagement

Sarah Brown • brown@EmanuelDenver.com • ext. 305

Shalom Temple Emanuel! My name is Sarah Brown and I am the new Director of Adult Engagement. I am so excited to begin my new position. For the past 18 years, I have been a part of this community as a congregant and a Religious School teacher. My goal is to help you find your niche in our community. Have you thought about volunteering and are not sure how or where? Have you wanted to participate in Social Justice programs and did not find anything out there? Are you a new member looking to find out how you can make a difference? I am the person to contact.

Currently, I am looking to get our Caring Community up and running. We need people who might want to make meals, offer rides, or visit people in or out of the hospital. I am also looking for members who might want to participate in small learning/activity groups, havurot.

Join us for Back-to-Shul Night on Friday, September 16. We will nosh at the oneg and you will have an opportunity to learn about what Temple Emanuel offers. We look forward to seeing you there.

I encourage you to contact me! I can be reached at 303.388.4013, ext. 305 or brown@EmanuelDenver.org.

Megan Feldman Bettencourt is an award-winning author and inspirational speaker. She has reported from many countries, and her journalism has appeared in many prominent publications. Megan is the author of the internationally acclaimed book, TRIUMPH OF THE HEART: FORGIVENESS IN AN UNFORGIVING WORLD, which explores forgiveness through science, stories and memoir. Named a “Best Book of 2015 on the Science of a Meaningful Life” by the Greater Good Science Center at the University of California at Berkeley, it has been featured by media including The Telegraph, The Star-Tribune, PBS, HuffPo Women, as well as nationally syndicated radio shows and popular podcasts. An alumnus of the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism in New York City, Megan lives in Denver with her husband and son. She speaks frequently on how forgiveness, when practiced in the right ways, can enhance not only individual health and wellbeing, but the collective health and productivity of our schools, agencies, and companies.

A New Twist on an Old Goat: Collecting our Sins for Yom Kippur
Again this year, Temple Emanuel will participate in eScapegoat, a high-tech way to recreate an ancient ceremony. The sins of the community are symbolically placed onto a goat, which is then banished to the wilderness. Visit http://hhd.emanueldenver.org and click on the link to eScapegoat, where you can learn about the ceremony, enter something that you’re sorry for from this last year – confidentially, of course – and watch the cute animated goat carry away your misdeeds. Some entries (with no names or other identifying information) will be shared with the community during our Sh’ma Koleinu service on Yom Kippur morning.

Early Childhood Center News

Temple Emanuel ECC is inspired by the Reggio Emilia philosophy. What makes this approach in line with best practices in Early Childhood Education is how it enhances children’s learning, problem solving, social/emotional intelligence and creativity as well as how well it relates seamlessly to Judaic values. This approach is based on a belief that children should have ample access to experiences that develop and increase their love of the process of learning.

Teachers intentionally observe children and provide them with unique, individual learning experiences that enable them to explore their world, make meaning of it and delve into ideas that inspire them. This, coupled with specific Judaic values that were added to our school community through our past work and relationship with JECEI (www.jecei.org), help to create a central foundation for our school.

› Masa: Journey (Reflection, Return and Renewal)
› Brit: Covenant (Belonging and Commitment)
› Tzelem Elohim: Divine Image (Dignity and Potential)
› Klalut: Holiness (Intentionality and Presence)
› Hit’orut: Awakening (Amazement and Gratitude)
› D’rash: Interpretation (Inquiry, Dialogue, and Transmission)
› Tikkun Olam: Repair of the World (Responsibility)

These lenses and our Reggio-inspired approach inform how we interact with children and the environments we create for them. And because of this, we look forward to another amazing Fall here at Temple Emanuel ECC!

SHWAYDER CAMP

2016 Shwayder Wrap-Up

By Jodie Abrams • abrams@EmanuelDenver.org • ext. 314

Shwayder Camp experienced many awesome improvements this summer as our building project got underway. We housed 120 campers in our brand new cabins. I would like to say a huge todah rabah (thank you) to our Camp Committee members and volunteers Scott Esserman, Jamie and Mark Idelberg, Zach Kiefer, Susie and Perry Moss, and Dave Zimmerman for helping to build the new beds for the new cabins during staff week. The campers and staff loved them! With the very generous donation from Andrea Pollack, we were able to build our gorgeous new barn. We had an incredible season with these new buildings and look forward to the awesome new buildings to come. To learn more about the building project visit, http://www.shwayder.com/building-project.
Sisterhood Events 2016–17

By Laurie Prieve • LauriePrieve@gmail.com

We hope you enjoyed the summer! We have been busy planning a wonderful year for you. We are excited to have a myriad of events that will appeal to a wide variety of women. Please see the list below. Sisterhood will be accepting online/credit card memberships this year! The link can be found on the Sisterhood page on the Temple Emanuel website. Sisterhood has something to offer all the women of Temple Emanuel and, even if you cannot participate in our events, your dues support many of the things we do for our Temple, ECC, Religious School, our youth, our camp, and community. Your support keeps us going!

Shanah Tovah!

Our exciting events for the 2016/2017 year:

Brotherhood News

By Greg Ostravich • greg.ostravich@gmail.com or brotherhood@EmanuelDenver.org

We honored our Robert G. Milstein Award Recipient for the Outstanding Male Confrmand in May. This year’s recipient was Tim Bauer. Tim always contributed to discussions in Confirmation class, has spent summers at Shwayder Camp, and was a (SIT) Staff in Training this past summer at Shwayder. You can see a picture of him in the Brotherhood display case by the Social Hall. Mazel tov, Tim! In October we are coming up on the High Holy Days! On behalf of myself and the Temple Emanuel Brotherhood we wish you a Shanah Tovah! We hope your new year is sweet and brings many great things.

For more information about Brotherhood, please look at the Temple website and e-notes.
Sisterhood Gift Shop

Shop for all your High Holy Days needs with us! With the New Year upon us we are always looking for a gift to bring to our hosts. Our gift shop carries beautiful challah cutting boards in a variety of materials including wood and wood with colored metal. We also have a new assortment of mezuzahs in colored acrylic and designer metals. B’nai Mitzvah students can create a registry! See our tallit made in Israel, tzedakah boxes, pictures frames, and more for this special simcha. We have Hebrew watches for girls and boys. Jewelry is also fun and beautiful. Looking for special gift for any occasion? Order a sterling silver Hebrew name necklace (with or without a birthstone). Think ahead, these take 3–4 weeks to order from Israel.

Our Great Books of Jewish…have always been a big hit. New to this series is Reel Jewish. Reel Jewish is a passionate celebration of the Jewish presence both on the screen and behind the scenes. Whether you are a serious film buff or someone who likes to escape once in a while into the magical world of movies, Reel Jewish will take you on a joyful cinematic ride.

Who can ever forget Tevye and Golde serenading each other with “Do You Love Me?” in Fiddler on the Roof or Moses majestically parting the Red Sea in The Ten Commandments.

On our bookshelves you will find the new Reform High Holy Day Prayer Books “Mishkan HaNefesh.” They are a 2 book set for Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur. You have the choice of large or small print and they are in limited supply.

If there is something you need we would be happy to order it for you.

Shanah Tovah!

HOURS
Monday – Thursday: 9:00 a.m. – 4:00 p.m.
Friday: 9:00 a.m. – 1:00 p.m.
Sunday: During Religious School, 9:00 a.m. – 1:00 p.m.

Wishing you and your family a sweet and happy new year.

L’shanah Tovah U’metukah.

May their memory be for a blessing.
Celebrate Sukkot and Simchat Torah at Temple Emanuel!

Sukkot
Monday, October 17, 10:30 a.m.
Festival Worship service in the Sukkah!

Sukkot Family Worship / Consecration
Friday, October 21
5:30 p.m. – Dinner
6:30 p.m. – Service
Celebrate Sukkot with us at our Sukkot Family Worship service! All new students in Temple Emanuel Religious School will be honored at a Consecration Service. The children will be called to the bimah and greeted by our clergy. They will each receive a miniature Torah decorated with a cover created by their parent(s). Consecration at Temple Emanuel traditionally marks the official start of a students’ formal Jewish education. It is a special time set aside to wish students success and fulfillment in their years to come. All are invited to join us in the Sukkah following the service for donuts!

Simchat Torah
Sunday, October 3
5:30 p.m. – Dinner
6:30 p.m. – Service
Celebrate with us as we dance and sing in honor of the Torah! We begin with a short, spirited worship service and transition into rejoicing with Torah – with a full band, many rounds of dancing and the unrolling of an entire scroll around our Sanctuary. Families are welcome and encouraged to attend!

Sh’mini Atzeret/Yizkor
Monday, October 24
10:30 a.m.
