L’hitraot

By Rabbi Brian Immerman • immerman@EmanuelDenver.org • ext. 311

Lately I have been thinking a lot about time. As I approach the end of my sixth and final year as part of the Temple Emanuel community I cannot imagine what life was like before I started, without the support, love, and energy I receive from everyone who calls Temple their home. I think about the years, the months, the days, the minutes that I spent with each of you who have made a significant impact on my life and rabbinate.

Rabbi Abraham Joshuah Heschel, of blessed memory, taught that one of the greatest of our gifts as Jews is that we celebrate time. He wrote that “Judaism teaches us to be attached to holiness in time, to be attached to sacred events, to learn how to consecrate sanctuaries that emerge from the magnificent stream of a year.” I cannot think of a better sentence to summarize these last six years.

When we gather within our walls and out in the community, we create holy time. We best understand the word holy, kadosh, to mean something separate and special. Whenever we bless ritual objects such as the wine or challah, we are separating them and declaring that they are special. When we bless each other with our presence, with open and honest dialogue, with our pain and joy, and with the innermost yearnings of our hearts, we separate the time that we spend together as special and separate from any other moment before or after.

From B’nai Mitzvah students who illuminated new insights into their Torah portions to Confirmation students opening up new perspectives on issues in our world; from couples lovingly sharing their journey towards marriage to families remembering a loved one through the grief of loss; from numerous encounters in the classroom, the Sanctuary, in hospital rooms and in your homes, I have learned so much about the true meaning of holiness.

Each of these moments will live on as individual building blocks that form the foundation upon which I now embark on my journey. I know that everything that I learned from and with you will continue to support me. I will always be a member of Temple Emanuel and I will always refer to Temple as home. These walls also contain some amazing people who have become family to me. I would not be the rabbi who I am today without the mentorship and friendship of our professional team. Rabbi Black, Cantor Sacks and Steve Brodsky have each had a mark on me as a Rabbi, and I will miss sharing the bima with them every Shabbat. I have come to rely upon the expertise of the rest of the team as well, led by Steve Stark, including Rabbi Foster, Zach, Francie, Patricia, Sarah, Julie, Rayna, Rita, Susan, Jodie, Zahava, Megan, Cairo, Sura, and those who worked at Temple during my tenure. I will miss you all.

In Hebrew, the word for goodbye is l’hitraot, which more accurately translates as “until next time.” I hope that you will stay in touch in the future and that if you are ever in the New Haven area you will come say hi. Until then, l’hitraot!
A Bittersweet Farewell

By Rabbi Joseph R. Black • black@EmanuelDenver.org • ext. 308

Writing this article is bittersweet. As you already know, this July, Rabbi Immerman will be moving on from Temple Emanuel to assume the position of Senior Rabbi of Temple Mishkan Israel in Hamden, CT. I am thrilled for Brian, Jenny, and Maggie as they begin this exciting new chapter in their lives. At the same time, however, I feel a small amount of sadness as we bid them farewell. Over the past six years, it has been my honor to mentor and partner with Rabbi Immerman as he has become an integral part of our clergy team. We have shared in the joy of his marriage to Jenny and the birth of their first child, Maggie Wren. Rabbi Immerman has taught our children, officiated at countless, joyous occasions, and guided us through some of life’s most difficult moments. He has enriched our young adult population through his work with the Hineini Project as well as challenged us from the pulpit and never wavered from his sincere dedication to social justice and community organizing. He truly has been a gift to our community.

One of the most important gifts that we, as a congregation, can give to the Jewish people is to help prepare young rabbis grow in confidence, experience and skills as assistant and associate rabbis here at Temple. They can then move on and assume leadership positions in other communities with the knowledge and confidence that they have been able to immerse a wide variety of rabbinic experiences.

We have all watched with pride as Rabbi Immerman has matured as a rabbi. I am thrilled to see his success and I know his new congregation will benefit greatly from his insight, caring, and wisdom.

We want to thank Rabbi Immerman for all of his caring, inspiration, teaching, and friendship over these past six years. Mark your calendars for Friday night, May 18 when we will honor the Immermans at our Shabbat services.

On another note, as sad as we are to bid farewell to Rabbi Immerman, we are excited to welcome Rabbis Emily Hyatt and Elliott Baskin as new members of our clergy team. Watch for more information about how we will be welcoming them in the Fall.

In the Talmud, Tractate Taanit, page 7a: Rabbi Hanina says: “I have learned much from my teachers and even more from my friends, but from my students I have learned more than from all of them.”

We give thanks for teachers, friends, and students who enrich our lives.

Mazel tov

Mazel tov to our own Rabbi Foster, recently installed as the President of the National Association of Retired Reform Rabbis (NAORRR). The organization is an affiliate of the Central Conference of American Rabbis and was founded in 1984. Its purpose is to provide support and advocacy for, and to foster fellowship among, retired and about to retire rabbis, their spouses/partners and surviving spouses/partners. NAORRR seeks to present opportunities for discussion of the practical problems and needs of its members; to enable its members to continue their efforts to preserve and promote Judaism; to provide opportunities for scholarly stimulation and Torah study; and to continue strengthening and supporting the CCAR in its endeavors.

We are excited for Rabbi Foster’s role in continuing to cultivate opportunities for education, leadership, and Judaic exploration through NAORRR. Mazel tov!
Have You Made Your Spring Cleaning Checklist?

By Francie Miran • miran@EmanuelDenver.org • ext. 335

Spring cleaning is a time-honored tradition. Even though many of us do our kitchen cleaning for Pesach, it’s now a time to gamely explore the inner reaches of our closets, sweep the winter’s road dirt off our garage floor, and ready the yard for summer fun. Spring is also a wonderful time to ‘clean’ up our estate plan.

There are many reasons to review your plans. The birth of new family members, the loss of a loved one, a marriage or divorce—even just to reconfirm that you’ve named the best person to make any medical or financial decisions on your behalf. It all matters.

And if you do review your plans, please also consider becoming a member of the

Live On Society by creating an estate gift for Temple Emanuel.

Estate gifts come in all shapes and sizes. For many, the priority will always be retaining control over one’s assets for the balance of life. Future needs are unknowable. However, you can make a future gift to Temple Emanuel while also protecting yourself first, in case any unexpected needs arise. You can preserve your full control and these gifts are highly flexible. You can tailor your plans to perfectly fit your wishes. Examples include:

- Bequest – Will or Living Trust
- Beneficiary Designation – IRA or Life Insurance policy

In other situations, securing an income from your gift and/or maximizing tax benefits might be the higher priority. Examples of these gifts include:

- Charitable Gift Annuity
- Charitable Remainder Trust
- Charitable Lead Trust

Spring is upon us. As you consider your spring cleaning checklist, please add one more item: “Review Estate Plan.” For your family or for Temple Emanuel—it could be one of the best things you do all year.

Either way, options do exist that allow you to appropriately balance your family goals and responsibilities with a desire to support Temple life. And if you do give thought to joining the Live On Society, please know that we’re grateful for your consideration. The sacred bond linking generation to generation is strengthened by each philanthropic investment in the future of Temple Emanuel.

If you would like information on the Live On Society, please visit our website, emanueldenver.org/donate/the-live-on-society or contact Francie Miran at miran@EmanuelDenver.org or 303.388.4013, x335. And please know there are no expectations or obligations whatsoever. All inquiries will be held in strict confidence.

A huge “Thank You” to everyone who participated in Mitzvah Day this year! We had over 500 people registered and we put in over 1,500 hours of service in the Denver community. Mitzvah Day would not have been possible without the help of our Mitzvah Day Chairs; Jami Acker, Janelle Caplan, Alison Gillis, Sarah Goldblatt, Larry Goldman, Felicia Greher, Justin Levy, Meagan Partilla, Trina Reisch, Sara Seba, and Liora Spiess. I would also like to thank all of our sponsors and project captains who helped make Mitzvah Day a success.

As we find ourselves at the end of our academic calendar, I wanted to take this opportunity to reflect on some of the changes that have occurred in our Religious School program during the first of our three-year strategic plan. Thanks to the input and guidance of many of our families, along with the support of our Religious School 20/20 task force, Rita Dahlke, Rayna Wandel, and our incredibly talented faculty on both Sunday mornings and Wednesday evenings, this year saw some major successes. To highlight just a couple:

1. Our new Chugim Block: During the optional-enrollment months of January and February, our Religious School students in My Jewish Discovery Zone (Pre-K) through seventh grade had the opportunity to select from a selection of chugim (choices/electives). They then spent six weeks diving deep into a variety of different topics. Their options were:
   - Jewish Cooking
   - Jews and Art
   - Music and Movement
   - Jewish Ritual Art
   - Storytelling & Tales from Chelm
   - Shwayder Magic
   - Conversational Hebrew
   - Drama
   - Science in the Bible
   - Tikkun Olam Projects
   - Jewish Film Club
   - Photography

   These classes were multi-grade and the learning was largely student driven. We wanted to offer our learners the chance to engage in content that they felt passionate about in a way that allowed for deeper learning in smaller groups. We involved professionals within our community, reached out to partner organizations, and as usual, utilized every usable space in our building. While the drop-off and pick-up times were significantly quieter in our lobby, the energy throughout the building was as lively as ever! We are excited to build upon this year’s success in this area in offering more of these opportunities as we move forward.

2. Shabbat B’Yachad (Shabbat Together): In November 2017, and subsequently on the first Friday night of each month, we launched our new Shabbat initiative geared towards families with children in kindergarten through fifth grade. All families started and finished our Shabbat service together, having our students help to lead kiddush, motzi, and the closing song. During the service, our students were brought to a different space in which they engaged in thematic programming and a lively, camp-style service. Each month’s activity focused on something different: from the idea of “light” around Hanukkah to planting around Tu B’shevat (planting parsley to be ready for the Passover Seder plate) to a Purim Boot Camp, and much more. In addition to the service/activity portion of the program, many months offered families of various grades the chance to come together and build community around Shabbat dinner, playing board games, trying to solve an Escape Room, and creating special desserts to enjoy the sweetness of Shabbat.

   We look forward to continuing to grow this program and welcoming more and more families to celebrate Shabbat evening with our Temple community.

Thank you all for all you have done, and will continue to do, in supporting the tremendously impactful Jewish learning that goes on here at Temple. We look forward to welcoming everyone back in the Fall. Religious School will resume on Sunday, September 16. Please be sure to visit the Religious School page of our website for a link to register your child(ren) for the 2018-2019 school year so that they can be a part of all the exciting educational/engagement opportunities moving forward.

Don’t miss out on the BEST SUMMER EVER! Space is limited but we do still have room in some of our sessions for the 2018 season. Contact us in the camp office, 303.388.4013, ext. 314, to check about availability. You can register at www.shwayder.com/registration.

YOUTH ENGAGEMENT

“Spread the word! Have you heard?
All across the nation, we are going to be a great generation!”— Yolanda Renee King

By Megan Garrett • garrett@EmanuelDenver.org • ext. 348

Every Sunday, as our kids come pouring into the building for religious school, I am blown away by their kind smiles and willingness to be wholly present in our kehillah kedosha (holy community). I’ve been lucky enough to help take this kindness to another level and help the kids and teens build their own.

This year, our younger youth groups—Jewniors and EmanuKids—showed us the true definition of fun! They adventured through storybooks, made pie, storyboarded and filmed their own movies, and more!

Frankel Club Junior Youth Group, our middle school group, was the biggest in the region!! Frankel Club loved every single shul-in (lock-in at Temple) in Denver and St. Louis! They even showed up to some of the high school events!!

“FCTYG – TREE!” FCTYG, this high school group bounced all the way to places like Extreme Challenge and Spider Monkey. They celebrated all the holidays in a big way with really special Shabbatot and Havdallot, Hanukkah Hoopla, helping with the Purim Carnival, and even a Chocolate Seder!

I am especially proud of FCTYG for mobilizing on important issues that are affecting our country. FCTYG high schoolers showed up at the courthouse for vigils and marches. They brought social action into each program in order to educate and discuss the topics that affect them directly like gun violence awareness and the refugee issues that America faces. They even went as far as Washington, D.C., to lobby Congress and march in the national March for Our Lives.

It was an amazing year!! But we aren’t done yet! FCTYG is always looking for driven leaders who are excited to help at Temple! Elections for FCTYG board are coming up, and we have a variety of opportunities available to get involved. Email Megan at garrett@EmanuelDenver.org for more details!
Philosophy at the ELC

By Susan Wartchow • wartchow@EmanuelDenver.org • ext. 319

People often ask me about our Philosophy at the ELC and what the Reggio-Inspired Approach we use really means. This article sums it up as well as mirrors the Judaic values of k'dusha (holiness)—intentionality and presence and d'rash (interpretation)—inquiry, dialogue and transmission.

Excerpts from Bringing Reggio Emilia Home: An Innovative Approach to Early Childhood Education, by Louise Boyd Cadwell:

- The child as protagonist. Children are strong, rich, and capable. All children have potential, curiosity, and interest in constructing their learning, negotiating with everything their environment brings to them.
- The child as collaborator. There is a focus on each child in relation to other children, the family, the teachers, and the community rather than on each child in isolation (Gandini, 1993).
- The child as communicator. There is a representation of words, movement, drawing, painting, building, sculpture, collage, dramatic play, and music, which leads children to surprising levels of communication and creativity (Edwards et al., 1993). Children are given the use of many materials in order to discover and communicate what they understand, wonder about, question, feel, and imagine.
- The environment as third teacher. There is an underlying order and beauty in the design and organization of all the space in a school and the equipment and materials within it (Lewin, 1995).
- The teacher as partner, nurturer, and guide (Edwards, 1993). Teachers facilitate children’s exploration of themes and guide experiences of open-ended discovery and problem solving (Edwards et al., 1993). To know how to plan and proceed with their work, teachers listen and observe children closely.
- The teacher as researcher. Teachers work in pairs and maintain strong, collegial relationships with other staff; they engage in continuous discussion and interpretation of their work and the work of children.
- The documentation as communication. Documentation shows children that their work is valued. It creates a history and the pleasure in the process of learning experienced (Gandini, 1993).
- The parent as partner. Parents are considered essential and play an active part in the learning experience.

Brotherhood News

By Will Trachman • wtrachman@gmail.com, brotherhood@EmanuelDenver.org

Brotherhood has had an active Winter and Spring! In February, we had an amazing blood drive, thanks to Andy Thangasamy’s terrific work in organizing the event! Thank you to all of those who donated blood. In March, we recognized Doug Velick as our volunteer of the year. In April, we put our grilling skills to good use and barbecued several hundred hamburgers and hot dogs for the hungry Mitzvah Day crowd. Be on the lookout for a few important items coming up soon: (1) scholarship applications for students going into their first or second year of college in the Fall of 2018 will be due in June; (2) the softball team will need fresh recruits for its season by the middle of May; and (3) we will have at least one summer social event. Send any questions to Will Trachman at wtrachman@gmail.com.
