

Pacific Standard Time: LA/LA Neighborhood Guide

Discover hidden gem museums and galleries across L.A.

Updated on September 13, 2017

Eduardo Sarabia, Desert Daze, 2015. Oil on canvas, 185 cm x 255 cm. Private collection, Guadalajara. On display at the Mistake Room

The Mistake Room - Eduardo Sarabia: Drifting on a Dream (Sept. 16 - Nov. 18, 2017)

The Mistake Room (TMR) connects L.A. to peoples, places, and histories that exist well beyond its confines through initiatives at home and abroad. TMR produces and presents ambitious new commissions, research-driven exhibitions, experimental projects, and publications in collaboration with artists creative makers living and working around the world.

Eduardo Sarabia: Drifting on a Dream is the first solo exhibition of L.A.-born, Guadalajara-based artist Eduardo Sarabia in Los Angeles in almost a decade. The exhibition will bring together some of the artist's most iconic previous projects as well as a host of new works. Loosely organized in three intersecting environments that represent recurring archetypal characters in Eduardo's oeuvre—The Migrant, The Mystic, and The Greater Fool—Drifting on a Dream will take viewers into the many worlds conceived and made real by an artist whose practice embodies the tensions and possibilities that come with living between nations.

<http://bit.ly/2AzO6Xo>