

STRANGE FIRE COLLECTIVE

CALL FOR ENTRIES CALL AND RESPONSE: ART AS RESISTANCE

As a response to the current social and political climate in the United States, the Strange Fire Collective is looking for work made by women, people of color, and LGBTQ artists that engages with issues of social justice and critically questions the dominant social hierarchy for our upcoming exhibition Call and Response: Art as Resistance.

Selected artists will be included in a permanent online exhibition on the Strange Fire Collective website and will be featured in the Opening Reception Slide Show on March 31st during the Month of Photography Denver.

Because this exhibition is hosted in collaboration with the Center for Fine Art Photography and the Month of Photography Denver, we are looking for photo-based work. All capture types and photographic processes are eligible for inclusion.

ABOUT THE STRANGE FIRE COLLECTIVE

The Strange Fire artist collective is a group of interdisciplinary artists, curators, and writers focused on work that engages with current social and political forces. We seek to create a venue for work that critically questions the dominant social hierarchy and are dedicated to highlighting work made by women, people of color, and queer and trans artists.

Our collective practice is centered around increasing the visibility of meaningful work and creating dialogue and community through publications, exhibitions, and events. We are committed to making our projects accessible, affordable, and socially relevant.

Agency, presented by Strange Fire Collective at the Center for Fine Art Photography, 2016

JURIED BY THE STRANGE FIRE COLLECTIVE:

Jess T. Dugan, Rafael Soldi, Zora J. Murff, and Hamidah Glasgow.

IMPORTANT DATES

Entries Due | March 19, 2017

Notice Of Acceptance | March 25, 2017

Public + Artists' Reception | March 31, 2017

Location TBD

SUBMISSIONS | FREE

- You may submit up to 10 images. 1200 pixels on the longest side, sized to 72 DPI and saved as JPGs.
- Please label your images as follows:
Last name_Title_Date.jpg
- A short statement on how your identity fits into our mission. (100 words or less)
- A short statement about the work you are submitting. (250 words or less)
- Submit your work to strangefirecollective@gmail.com and use Call and Response 2017 as the subject line of the email.