WE SERVE ALL YOUNG PEOPLE & FAMILIES

The comprehensive approach of Cocoon House through the continuum of Outreach, Housing and Prevention, ensures that each young person is met where they are, physically and emotionally, to provide the best possible outcomes for their future. Young people connect with Cocoon House staff when in our programs, in their schools, or out on the street. Parents are provided with services to help keep their teen in the home, or offer the smoothest transition possible if the teen is returning home from homelessness. This type of individualized service allows Cocoon House to meet the diverse needs of young people and their families in all possible ways because every child deserves a home and a bright future.
"ONE YOUNG PERSON AT A TIME, ONE FAMILY AT A TIME. WE WILL BREAK THE CYCLE OF HOMELESSNESS."

JOSEPH ALONZO, COCOON HOUSE CEO
WE MAKE A DIFFERENCE THROUGH OUTREACH, HOUSING AND PREVENTION

The Cocoon House Outreach team works throughout the county providing emergency supplies, hygiene packs, food packs, and access to housing and local resources to young people ages 12-24. Meeting young people on the street, in the community, in schools, at partner agencies, or at the Cocoon House Outreach Center, the team works with each young person to build trust and help them access the resources they need, like a shower and laundry facilities, a safe place to connect with others and transportation to an emergency shelter.

Cocoon House provides short and long term housing to homeless young people ages 12-17 years old, and their children. Providing much more than a safe place to sleep, teens receive assistance engaging in school, preparing for employment, life and enrichment skills, and help accessing community services on and off site, while planning for long term housing.

Cocoon House has homes throughout Snohomish County, including: Arlington (North): Home for pregnant or parenting young mothers and their children. Everett (Central & Complex): Two sites offering short-term and long-term housing. Monroe (East): Home with short-term housing.

Cocoon House believes preventing teens from becoming homeless means educating and supporting parents to build safe, structured environments for teens to develop. As a National Best Practice, Cocoon House Project SAFE offers bi-lingual therapeutic phone consultations, parent education, and supportive programming to parents and guardians to increase their knowledge of and ability to relate to their developing teen or pre-teen.

Cocoon House's WayOUT Seminar supports this initiative as an intense 13 hour seminar with young person and parents or guardians to increase communication and trust.

Cocoon House is an inclusive organization that provides a safe and affirming place that respects gender identity and sexual orientation. We accept and respect a person's chosen name and pronouns. Cocoon House is strongly committed to removing barriers and supporting inclusion and diversity in all its forms. We strive to create a safe and open atmosphere for young people, families, staff, board members, community partners and donors.
