A few words from Virginia...

It’s been a busy few months here at Fear 2 Freedom. It feels great to move out of COVID constraints! After all of our Hour 2 Empower events were canceled in January, we moved back to hybrid & in-person events. So far this fiscal year our programs have impacted over 2,100 participants & we’ve provided over 1,900 F2F Kits for survivors through hospital & community partners. We also had an amazing in-person Gala!

Many thanks to our F2F Champions who stepped up and made our 10th Anniversary Gala an unforgettable evening of celebration, inspiration & affirmation. We are so grateful for Champions who served on the Gala Committee, gave as corporate sponsors & hosts, & invited colleagues, friends and family to support us. We are still blown away by the incredible generosity during the Gala Paddle raise of $150,000 committed to F2F programs!

“My heart is so touched by each one of you…I am forever grateful for you joining us in the fight to combat sexual violence. Together we are making a difference in the lives of survivors & empowering students to “Be the Change” and “Restore The Joy!” Rosemary Trible

Courageous Moment...

For F2F’s 10th Anniversary, we designed a special Freedom Stone to honor Rosemary’s courage. These new Freedom Stones will be included in Adult AfterCare & iCare Kits as a reminder that it is possible to live again with joy. Freedom Bear may be a little awkward to take everywhere with you, but these Freedom Stones fit in a pocket, purse or wallet. When stress & fear overwhelm hearts, these stones can be held as a reminder that it’s possible to move from fear to freedom - as Rosemary did.

Champion Inspiration

“Courage is not the absence of fear, but the triumph over it.” Nelson Mandela
During April we commemorated SAAM - Sexual Assault Awareness Month - by joining others around the globe highlighting sexual violence prevention efforts. But here at F2F we raise awareness of sexual violence every month of the year. Today here are a few ways you can support a survivor:

1. BELIEVE. Believe what a survivor tells you. It takes a great deal of courage to share what has happened. Make sure you uphold confidentiality, that is so important!
2. LISTEN. This is not the time to share your story or ask lots of questions, this is an opportunity for a survivor to process what has happened to them - at their own pace.
3. Don’t try to “FIX IT.” This cannot be fixed. Be a comforting presence.
4. SUPPORT. Offer to accompany the survivor to the hospital, resource center or to see a counselor if they’d like you to go with them. Be a non judgmental presence. Remember survivors often struggle with blame & shame – but it is not their fault to be a victim of sexual violence!
5. REMEMBER. Healing takes time. Survivors are unique and experience triggers differently. Be mindful & understanding of what they are experiencing. Remember, once again, healing can take years.
