Lizzie Jordan,

Lizzie Jordan, THINK2SPEAK’s founder and CEO, became a mother, a widow and was diagnosed with HIV all in an 18 month period back in 2005. Since then Lizzie and her son have had to tackle their fair share of challenging conversations!

She founded THINK2SPEAK as a social enterprise in 2015 with the simple aim of wanting to help her son’s primary school. Since then we have worked with schools and organisations across the country to make the conversations that matter happen.

INTRODUCING OUR PATRON.

‘As we all know, life is filled with many unexpected moments. Some induce a lovely warm glow and feel magical in every sense of the word others much less so, for they are the ones we try to tame or forget in their entirety. For children and young people trying to navigate their way across stormy seas those memories of adverse experiences are like hidden rocks that ships try to avoid at all costs. Through their skilled talking approach, THINK2SPEAK not only provide a lighthouse service for children and young people but also help with other essentials just in case one of those hidden rocks gets in the way.

As an educator who frames my work round acceptance, inclusion, equality, respect and dignity for all children I felt extremely humbled when asked whether I would consider being a patron of THINK2SPEAK. Without hesitation I accepted due to the fact our moral compasses align.

It is clear that THINK2SPEAK is an outward facing organisation that places firmly the wellbeing of children and young people at the centre of everything it does. Their offer is unique, necessary and much needed, not just in Lincolnshire, but across the country. I feel very honoured to be included in their journey and to be patron of THINK2SPEAK.’

“Our son’s T2S counsellor offered him a safe and confidential place & challenged his own negative thoughts about himself. He has developed a deeper awareness of himself and can now take care of himself more safely. He has grown in confidence and self esteem through this process.”

‘The entire team at T2S introduced enthusiasm, innovation and a significant level of knowledge and expertise into what was a complex and demanding project. They went above and beyond in offering time and advice, becoming more a part of the team than a supplier. We were extremely pleased with the results, and in fact increased the project scope with T2S.’
