Here's what subscribers and leaders in the field of adult education are saying about the COABE Journal.

"This journal is the only adult literacy journal left in North America that publishes research directly related to our field. It is very critical that we continue to publish research which will inform instruction and advocate with decision makers."

"I really like the research and the articles by people in the field today, I also like that it is quarterly so I actually have some time to read it before another issue comes out."

"Review of research in progress is excellent, and the content is great!"

"I conduct and am interested in research in the ABE field and the COABE journal offers a good variety of articles. This area is not well served in other academic journals."

Inside the Journal, you'll find:

- Empirical /Peer reviewed research articles
- Practitioner Action research articles
- Resource and Technology reviews
- Viewpoint—commentary on the latest adult education and literacy trends and issues by leaders in the field
