

Support Jamaica Plan communities

WHAT THEY DO

JPNDC's Affordable housing department builds high-quality homes, manages housing communities, supports permanent housing, and advocates for affordability -- understanding that when people live in homes they can afford, they have hope for the future and the whole neighborhood is healthier.

GOOD FOR MAJORS IN...

Communication, Journalism, Environmental studies, Political Science, Social work, Justice studies, Sociology, Women Studies

WHAT YOU COULD DO

- Develop data analysis skills
- Learn financial statements and annual audits of real estate developments
- Analyze water, gas and electricity use, and observe trends to spot issues and opportunities for savings
- Document use and cost savings results of energy and water efficiency improvements
- Support day-to-day operations with event planning, site visits to housing units, grant research

PERFECT IF YOU CARE ABOUT...

- Community Organizing
- Access/Equity
- Government

“Through this internship at JPNDC, I have gained many different skills in community organizing, in research and also in cultural competence.”

Taylor, Clark University '19
Political Science major