

Self-Evaluation is the most effective learning tool for students in the classroom. Why?

What went well for me on this test?
What did I do/How did I contribute to that?
Which question # did I miss? What is the topic or material?	Why did I miss the question?				Correct the error or solve the problem. (Need to revisit your notes or work with a classmate? Please ask me first.)
	I didn't know the information. I didn't know what to do to solve/answer the question.	I only knew part of the information, not enough to give a complete answer. What do you need to answer fully?	I misread the question, was in a hurry, or not paying attention.	Outside factors: *Not enough sleep *Didn't study *Didn't pay attention during instruction *Relationship stuff *Other?
