THINGS TO KNOW

Research Jam Duration: Research Jams are typically 2-3 hours in duration.

Research Jam Champions: The requestor of the Research Jam, and any other designees, will serve as the ‘champion(s)’ for the effort and will be the point(s) of contact during the design process.

Research Jam Planning: The design of our Research Jams is an iterative process that involves the MICHR team and the champion(s). Depending on capacity, we may need up to three months to implement a Research Jam.
Research Jam Formats: All of our Research Jams can be hosted in person or virtually.

Post Research Jam: We ask that all participants complete a satisfaction survey, so we can keep improving what we do. We like to debrief with the champion, and we can provide project management consultation to get your efforts up and running. Depending on your next steps and our capacity, additional support from MICHR may be possible.
