RICE

Valencia is, historically, the first region of Spain where rice started to be cultivated. Since then, generations have dedicated their lives to produce the essential ingredient of dishes prepared by people who look for original tastes. It was in the early 40's when Don José Montoro León started to produce Valencia rice in his old mill, in the town of Massamagrell.

Nowadays, our rice not only preserves an ecosystem and a whole society, but it is also a product of guaranteed quality.

FRESH FRUIT AND VEGS

We have been importing Padron Peppers from Galicia as far as we can remember, and four years ago we started to import Calçots, the famous leek shaped green onion from Catalunya that even has its own festival. Then we found that several of our customer's were struggling to find consistently good avocados and tomatoes. At that point we looked into organic vegetables production and began working directly with growers from the tropical growing areas in Andalucía and other parts of the Mediterranean Coast, where the long hours of sunshine create an ideal growing environment for many fruit and vegetables.

Organic Clementine's Grove, Málaga.

ORGANIC FRUITS & VEGETABLES

We especially like organic vegetables as they have a higher content of solid material and less water, therefore much more texture than conventional products.
