PINOT GRIS AND GRIGIO

What is it...Pinot Gris or Pinot Grigio??? Same, Same but Different. The Italians think they do it better with the Grigio. Lighter, drier, crisper, dare we say a touch more delicate? The French with all that love it's often more generous and giving, juicier and some may say sexier. Here in new world it's whatever we want to call it....but still keeping in the style of the grapes spiritual home.

MARSANNE, ROUSSANNE AND VIOGNIER

These are the white grapes of the Rhone Valley. Tellurian in Heathcote have really captured the beauty of these often forgotten grapes.

Tellurian, meaning 'of the earth', vineyard is farmed organic, and Tellurian is in transition for organic certification. Winemaker Tobias Ansted's philosophy is to craft each wine with minimal intervention, to capture the natural essence of site and variety in wines of intensity and finesse. Tobias enhanced his love of Rhone Valley whites after spending time with Yves Cuilleron in Condrieu, the home of Viognier and during his time there honed his sense of balance between flavour, weight, texture and structure.

SAUVIGNON BLANC & SEMILLON

Just to clear it up Sauvignon Blanc is more like SOOOOOVignon rather than SAAAAVignon. Tomato, TomAyto I suppose, and who really cares as long as it's cold? This grape has a loud voice so we don't need to do too much talking. With its punchy tropical fruits, lychee and blackcurrant leaf (we are looking at you Marlborough) to the gooseberry aromas, bracing acidity, and flinty-smoke flavours of the Loire. It's one hell'ova a popular wine, worldwide. If you are looking for your classic Marlborough we have one at hand, just ask, or we dare you to try something else.....

The Tyrrell's families have traced their heritage back to 1500AD. 1863 was when the winery was built and 1864 was the first vintage. The Hunter Valley is only up the road and produces some of the world's best Semillon. Tyrrells really does this grape proud. Vat 1 being the most iconic.

US V THEM WHITES

Alternative Grape Varieties are being planted more and more in Australia and New Zealand. We all know the classic grapes, Chardonnay, Pinot Noir, Riesling, Shiraz etc. However the Australian wine scene has never been so exciting with wineries experimenting with other international grapes and wine making techniques. In a bit of friendly rivalry we are pitting grapes from their native home versus those grown locally. So order both bottles from each round and may the best wine win...

CHARDONNAY

ABC (anything but Chardonnay) drinkers need a good shake, or just a bloody good Chardonnay. Long gone are the days that all Chardonnays are big, fat, butter bombs. (Most...) Wine makers have laid off the heavy toasty oak to just a gentile kiss. These days we are seeing the purity of this incredibly versatile grape. The brush of oak adding texture, mouth-feel, complexity, slight nuttiness and spice, with a hint of vanilla, instead of stealing the full flavour profile. Burgundy have been doing it all these years, we just got a bit excited and thought bigger was better in the 80's and 90's. We still have a few Aussie producers making the unapologetic styles and thank god... sometimes, just sometimes, bigger is better.

PINOT NOIR

Pinot Noir is a diva of a grape. So much so, it has a movie dedicated to it called Sideways. Pinot is a delicate grape to grow and makes wines that can be, oh so seductive. From the ripe bright juicy styles we can see in the new world, bursting with ripe red berries and black sweet cherries to the earthy, savory and forest floor characteristics that we see in many a great Burgundy and Pinots from cooler climates.

The Farr's are one of Australia's leading Pinot Noir families. Gary Farr, who produced what legendary wine connoisseur Len Evans called "Australia's Best Pinot", keeps an eye over the vineyard while his son Nick Farr has taken the reins. They have both spent time with at Domain Dujac in Burgundy and Gary continues to make pilgrimages, as he has done for the past two decades.

RED BURGUNDY MARCHAND & BURCH

When two men met in a small village in France in the Burgundy wine region, they were instantly connected through their passion for Pinot Noir.

We invite you to enjoy the pursuit of these two friends; Burgundian winemaker and biodynamic ambassador Pascal Marchand (ex-régisseur from Domaine Comte Armand and Domaine De La Vougeraie) and Jeff Burch, vigneron and owner of Howard Park Wines.

This friendship has bloomed into a partnership producing a collection of both fine West Australian and Burgundian wines.

GRENACHE

The Third Friday of the month in September is one of the most important days in the Vinous Calendar... International #grenacheday. This wonderful fruit forward hedonistic grape variety should be celebrated in all its glory. This grape has such an amazingly diverse flavour profile throughout its life, from raspberry and strawberry with a white pepper spice note in its early life, to aging in the wine to produce leathery and tar flavour's. Grenache is also a wonderful friend to many other grapes, Cinsault, Mourvedre, Touriga to name a few. So let's join hands and rejoice for Grenache in all its glory!!

MONT-REDON, CHÂTEAUNEUF-DU-PAPE, SOUTHERN RHÔNE

Chateau Mont-Redon is based in the world famous village of Châteauneuf-du-pape, where Grenache is King. The makeup of Châteauneuf can be up to 13 grape varieties and Mont Redon grows them all. The Lirac and Côtes du Rhône are made up of two, three or four grapes while the Châteauneuf-dupape gets all 13. Such a large and high quality palette of grapes allows Mont Redon to create subtle relationships between them, always in the goal of producing wines that are perfectly harmonious and balanced, with great complexity.

SHIRAZ

HEAD Wines was started in 2006 by Alex Head. Alex has long been interested in 'Old-World' wines and their symbiosis with all things culinary; particularly Shiraz from an appellation in France's Northern Rhone Valley called Cote Rotie (roasted slope). A great legend states that in the Middle Ages a Seigneur of Ampuis called 'Count Maugiron' owned the steeply terraced hills of Cote Rotie. He was also blessed with two beautiful daughters, one a blonde and the other a brunette. The Southern slope of the Cote made a softer, rounded more elegant wine which delighted its drinkers with perfume and femininity. Here, the soil and wines showed colour and character of his blonde daughter. On the other hand the Northern slope produced an intense wine with dark fruits and tannin that required age to show its true potential. Here, the soil and wine showed colour and character of his brunette daughter. When Count Maugiron finally retired he passed on the two Cotes to his daughters and to this day, they are still referred to as the 'Cote Blonde' and 'Cote Brune'.

CABERNET, CABERNET FRANC AND MERLOT

A grape which has lost sex appeal over the years. Virginia, the head wine maker at Vasse Felix is on a crusade to bring it back and we think she is doing a brilliant job of it. Cabernet Sauvignon is a small berry with a thick skin and can quit a structured and tannic wine on its own. A dash of Merlot, Malbec, Petit Verdot can soften its edges and give it plushness. Cabernet can be a wine of power and generosity, concentration and structure, with a little touch of elegance.
