

The Government Inspector

Schedule #1

Okay, so here we go: some thoughts to consider first.

Are you comfortable with all your lines?

Obviously this play has many, many people onstage at the same time. I'm trying my best to call people without lines at a later date, but I've got to call pretty enormous groups already.

Keep in mind that the first time we rehearse these scenes, you're going to need to keep good track of blocking, so bring your scripts and a writing implement. The second time we rehearse you need to have memorized both your blocking and your lines.

Finally, next week is exams--if you need me to keep particularly difficult days in mind for you while setting the schedule, you need to pass on those requests ASAP. Sam and Owen, you can pretty much forget about that. I need you all the time.

If by some miracle we can get through all that, the entire play will be up.

Also, Mr. Carney will need to see some folks a few days next week. We will figure it out, so don't feel any anxiety over potential audition/rehearsal conflicts.

Also, in the future, you'll have some ensemble based calls. Do not come to the rehearsals for these scenes this week! Just so you know those assignments, here you go:

Act one, scene one: all constables, Brynn, Zora, Hannah G., Gracie, Triana

Act one, scene two: Cully & Jon

Act one, scene three, all constables, Brynn, Zora, Hannah G., Gracie, Triana

Act two: Brynn, Zora, Josie, Maya (Mayor/Grusha's staff) Everyone: townspeople besieging Hlestakov (Cully/Jon: constables in last beat; Jalen, Nate, Hannah G., Triana, Gracie: merchants/women for last few pages)
