Be a Part of the 2017 AME Skills Competition

The Ontario 2017 AME Conference promises to be the best event yet. This year we have added an AME Skills competition, which will see maintenance professionals compete in broad-range of events that will highlight technical skills.

Join the Skills Competition to watch the industry’s leading certified aircraft maintenance technicians, engineers and students compete in 6 challenging skills tests.

Compete with current and future maintenance professionals who will test combined abilities against their peers. The purpose is to raise awareness of the training and skills needed to provide safe and airworthy aircraft worldwide! We are looking for teams consisting of 4 professionals per team to compete for Regional Bragging rights and prizes.

Key Note Speakers

Kayleen McCabe - presenting a key note on skills and the importance of the AME profession. Think construction is a guys-only field? Think again! Licensed contractor Kayleen McCabe has been swinging hammers and toting tool belts since the ripe age of six, when she shadowed her dad's overhaul of their Denver home. In 2009 she beat dozens of male competitors for the grand prize on TV's Stud Finder: her own series.

But nails aren't the only thing you'll find Kayleen hammering. She's an ardent advocate of trade careers and education, long seen as inferior to traditional four-year college degrees and white-collar jobs. Her goal is to shed light on the rising demand for trade professionals that's outpacing vocational training – and to help restore America's respect for the trades in the process.

Gary T. Hook - presenting a key note on the importance of team work, professionalism and safety. Gary has been directly involved in aviation safety since 1978. His more than 30 years of significant international experience in safety, at all levels of an organization, makes him a highly credible and competent facilitator of this key workshop.

Aside from his work with the Canadian Air Force, he has significant international experience teaching human factors, risk management, communication, leadership and organizational effectiveness. He has developed an expertise in human factors, Organizational Culture, Maintenance and Crew Resource Management, Human Factors in Decision Making, Risk Management, leadership studies and communication; additionally he is a certified corporate facilitator for the Franklin-Covey workshops including the 7 Habits of Highly Effective People and 4 Roles of Leadership.
