Resources for Disaster Response

HOW TO ENGAGE YOUR LOCAL COMMUNITY

Local Food Distribution
• We highly recommend that you connect with your local food bank or similar distribution centers to help coordinate the delivery of needed essentials to those at high risk of exposure. Their services are needed more than ever but many places are finding it hard to find volunteers to fill the demand.
• Through your website or phone tree, you can match up members who are able to perform essential errands like a grocery run or picking up medication and deliver to other members at high risk of exposure and complications who should not leave their home.

Get-Support Online Tool
• FDR is offering Get-Support, a user-friendly, browser-based digital marketplace where your community can post needs they have (cleaning supplies, food or medication delivery, prayer requests, etc.) for members to meet as they are able. This tool can be easily added to your church or organization website. To sign up for Get-Support, or for more information, please contact fdr@foursquare.org.

Support for Healthcare Workers
• FDR has partnered with Spokes of Hope to develop a mobile app that coordinates food delivery and laundry services for your local healthcare workers on the front lines of this pandemic. Contact us at fdr@foursquare.org for more information.
