

For Immediate Release

November 30, 2016

Local Nonprofit, Adler's Voice Makes Holidays Brighter for Two Deserving Central Oregon Families

Community Encouraged To Nominate Families In Need Of Christmas Magic

BEND, OR – While most of Central Oregon is busy embracing the holiday season, many families raising a child with a disability brace for this time of year, as unexpected bills, difficult care decisions and challenging medical conditions further complicate their lives, creating mounting stress even before attempting to create a magical Christmas experience for their children.

Adler's Voice, an Oregon nonprofit dedicated to providing support and resources to families with children experiencing complex communication disorders, aims to make Christmas a little brighter for local families raising children with disabilities this holiday season.

The organization is currently soliciting nominations of deserving families to receive a little cheer in the form of a fresh cut Christmas tree with decorations, all the makings for a Christmas dinner and a $100 gift card to use toward holiday gift shopping.

Stephanie Utzman, Adler's Voice Executive Director understands the added stress this time of year brings to her clients. Her son, Adler, experiences Cerebral Palsy and Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities.

“As a parent, I have experienced the kindness of strangers during a time of need,” said Utzman. “It’s amazing how what may seem like a small gesture to some can have a profound impact by providing just a little support to a family at a critical time.”

This year, Adler’s Voice hopes to make the holidays a little more enjoyable for two deserving families at Christmas.

Public nominations of deserving families can be submitted directly to the organization and will be accepted through midnight on December 7th. On December 8th, Adler’s Voice will randomly select two families to receive the special gifts.

“Whether the families are struggling to make ends meet, or are experiencing extenuating medical challenges, we want to help by offering these families one less thing to worry about, and hopefully make their Christmas a little brighter,” said Utzman.

To nominate a family or to submit your own family to enter, contact Stephanie Utzman at Stephanie@adlersvoice.org or (541) 408-1092 by midnight December 7, 2016. Information can also be found on the Adler’s Voice Facebook Page at <https://www.facebook.com/giveavoice>.

About Adler’s Voice

Adler’s Voice is an Oregon nonprofit organization that provides support to all individuals who experience a complex communication disorder and their families, care providers and educators, as well as professionals in the field of speech-language pathology and Augmentative and Alternative Communication (AAC). Through our three key services – Training, AAC Grants, and Advocacy – we strive to provide all individuals in Oregon with access to communication, the opportunity to communicate, and the freedom to communicate.

For more information, please visit <http://www.adlersvoice.org> or contact Stephanie Utzman at Stephanie@adlersvoice.org or (541) 408-1092.

###