Impact in Indian Country

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Chrystel Cornelius</th>
<th>Lance Morgan</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Executive Director, First Nations Oweesta Corporation</td>
<td>President and CEO, Ho-Chunk, Inc.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Chrystel Cornelius is the Executive Director of First Nations Oweesta Corporation. As the only national Native CDFI intermediary, Oweesta's mission is to provide opportunities for Native people to develop assets and create wealth by assisting in the establishment of strong, permanent institutions and programs, contributing to economic independence and strengthening sovereignty for all Native communities. Oweesta provides Native CDFIs with debt capital investments, technical assistance, and training to deliver financial and wealth building education programs to Tribal members across the United States. Ms. Cornelius has worked with Native communities for most of her professional career, with more than 20 years of experience working in the Native economic development field. She is an enrolled member of the Oneida Nation of Wisconsin and a member of the Turtle Mountain Band of Chippewa Indians located in North Dakota. As a former tribal planner for seven years of the Turtle Mountain Band, she has extensive experience in tribal government structures and coordinating with various government and private funding entities.

Lance Morgan is President and Chief Executive Officer of Ho-Chunk, Inc. The corporation is owned by the Winnebago Tribe of Nebraska with the mission of advancing socio-economic development of its people through a world-class company. Morgan is an enrolled member of the Winnebago Tribe and one of the founders of Ho-Chunk, Inc. Under his leadership, the corporation has grown to a thousand employees across numerous subsidiary companies with annual revenues reaching $270 million. The award-winning business model reinvests in the Winnebago community through programs including employment, housing, education and health.

Based in Fort Greene, Brooklyn, Nathaniel is an avid meditator, reader, and gardener. He received a BS in Urban & Regional Studies from Cornell University and currently serves on NetImpact’s Advisory Council. He is an active member of NEXUS GI, Social Venture Circle (SVC), and The Assemblage.

Nathaniel is a clean energy expert, social entrepreneur, impact investor, and policy advocate with over a decade of experience spanning electric utilities, green buildings, various alternative and renewable energy technologies and markets, regenerative business models, and impact investing. He is an adept program and project manager, start-up and growth business strategist, analyst, and fundraiser whose consulting clients have included Fortune 100 companies, venture-backed startups, impact philanthropies, as well as social ventures and non-profits.

Marc Diaz utilizes his expertise at scaling investment in people and nature to grow TerViva's pongamia cultivation and production operations worldwide. He values TerViva's ability to help farmers restore agricultural lands into productive sources of food and bioenergy in an innovative, sustainable and responsible way. As the company contributes to the world's food and energy basket, Marc collaborates with TerViva's supporters and stakeholders to ensure they achieve their social, environmental, and financial goals. Prior to joining TerViva, Marc launched and led impact investing efforts through NatureVest at The Nature Conservancy, and the UNICEF Bridge Fund, where he served as Managing Director. He began his career and spent six years in management consulting at McKinsey & Company. Marc has served in volunteer board leadership roles in community development finance, theater, and The Episcopal Church. He is a 2017 Aspen Institute Finance Leaders Fellow and a member of the Aspen Global Leadership Network. Marc earned his MBA with distinction from Harvard Business School and holds an MPA from Harvard Kennedy School. He graduated cum laude with a BA in Government from Harvard College. In his free time, he enjoys running, hiking, and spending time in California's cities, seashores, and mountains.

Based in Fort Greene, Brooklyn, Nathaniel is an avid meditator, reader, and gardener. He received a BS in Urban & Regional Studies from Cornell University and currently serves on NetImpact's Advisory Council. He is an active member of NEXUS GI, Social Venture Circle (SVC), and The Assemblage.

Marc Diaz utilizes his expertise at scaling investment in people and nature to grow TerViva's pongamia cultivation and production operations worldwide. He values TerViva's ability to help farmers restore agricultural lands into productive sources of food and bioenergy in an innovative, sustainable and responsible way. As the company contributes to the world's food and energy basket, Marc collaborates with TerViva's supporters and stakeholders to ensure they achieve their social, environmental, and financial goals. Prior to joining TerViva, Marc launched and led impact investing efforts through NatureVest at The Nature Conservancy, and the UNICEF Bridge Fund, where he served as Managing Director. He began his career and spent six years in management consulting at McKinsey & Company. Marc has served in volunteer board leadership roles in community development finance, theater, and The Episcopal Church. He is a 2017 Aspen Institute Finance Leaders Fellow and a member of the Aspen Global Leadership Network. Marc earned his MBA with distinction from Harvard Business School and holds an MPA from Harvard Kennedy School. He graduated cum laude with a BA in Government from Harvard College. In his free time, he enjoys running, hiking, and spending time in California's cities, seashores, and mountains.