This year Pride for Parents witnessed an incredible outpouring of generosity - from friends, from strangers, from those who have extensive resources, and from those who have very little. After the early-December break-in, we held onto the hope that everything for Pride for Parents would be restored. We were completely overwhelmed by your generosity.

Our community rallied behind us sending toys, volunteers, and prayers. 2016 was a banner year for Pride for Parents, and your support made it happen!

The desire to be generous is embedded deep within each of us, regardless of the resources we have. Many of the families we serve came to the toy store eager to buy a gift not only for their own child, but also for relatives and neighborhood friends. Yes, they were grateful for the reduced prices on toys for Christmas, and they were equally joyful for the opportunity to be generous.

Many are generous with FCS each year, donating toys and financial gifts to make our programs, including Pride for Parents, possible. And this generosity allows our families in South Atlanta to be generous as well. It is so beautiful to see God’s kingdom in action - where generosity, love, and kindness abound and multiply.

Thank you for being a part of Pride for Parents this year. You have been a part of an incredible story this holiday. We are grateful to work with you.

With gratitude,
