QUARANZINE

SUMMER 2020
Creating art is more important than ever: for our mental health, to give joy to those around us, to see our surroundings in new ways, and more. artworxLA wants to celebrate the art created at home by publishing it in our first online zine!

Over the last few weeks, your workshop coordinators shared art activities and prompts for you to try out during quarantine. Many focused on rituals of care to help you during this strange time, while others were about honing new art skills. Take a look at what you have all created!

GHOST PANIC

Blair: Wait, Halloween is in less than 3 months?!

That’s what the Headmaster said.

Oh, and someone finished the CandyCorn.

Cry

GHOST FACT:
Candy Corn is a Ghost’s favorite snack! [Yes, Ghosts eat too!]

I need sugar for my coffee.

Oh, there it is.

Yo, look he's going for the sugar that I switched for salt! Ha, Ha, Ha, Ha, Ha.
I'm so lonely! Every time I come out, there's no one. Absolutely no one to keep me company!

Dude, really? I'm nocturnal and Roky doesn't sleep. We can hang out all night every night!

Really? You'd both keep me company?

Nods
go with the flow and use what you have
I feel like my work describes me as a person & allows me to come out of my comfort zone.
I'M ALWAYS MORE CAPABLE THAN I THINK
