

Internationalizer

to the ends of the earth

Your vision for life tightly connects work and ministry. Your university studies or recent travel experiences are providing a strong foundation for that vision. You are now investigating what else you might need to integrate work and cross-cultural ministry as a sought-after marketplace professional

Yes, you are a teacher, a journalist, a medical personnel or even an engineer! Perhaps, you are a student who is studying abroad. Let's explore how we might partner together with you and your church in getting the Good News to the nations!