AquaPals is a unique learning experience that gives Washington students the opportunity to share a variety of local water conservation practices with their entire school!

Posters will highlight water saving habits and discourage water wasting practices! Ultimately, students will become more water aware citizens.

Register online at naturevision.org/program-registration OR email Michelle Song, Education Programs Manager, at msong@naturevision.org!

1 Following a classroom's initial Cascade Water Alliance sponsored program, AquaPals can be an optional follow up project day. Nature Vision staff will bring all necessary supplies for students to create water conservation posters to post around their school campus.

2 Your classroom will participate in a series of Cascade Water Alliance sponsored programs over the course of weeks to months. These programs will prepare your students for a culminating AquaPals water conservation poster campaign!