

How do I create my own channel?

Question: I can't figure out how to create my own "channel". I can click the link to customize my own channel but the only material available to populate my channel with is non-YL speakers/videos...

Answer: First you need to choose a post you want in your channel and then click "Customize this Post". You really don't have to change anything but save it after hitting customize. It will then appear under "My Training Posts and Courses". It will also appear in alphabetical order in the list of posts you can put in your channel.

Every area has access to their own account to train volunteers if they choose to use it and can create their own channel.
