Farmer Veteran Resources Guide

With generations of farmers retiring, and younger generations of Veterans coming back from service in the Military, a crossing of paths seems almost natural. Farming requires many of the same skills that were utilized in the military such as hard work, ability to work in a variety of environments, perseverance, and attention to detail, while continuing to be of service to the community. Farming can also be very therapeutic for Veterans with PTSD, TBI, and physical rehabilitation needs.

The Farmer Veteran Coalition [https://farmvetco.org/] - is the go-to for resources on training, loans, and more. This national program is dedicated to increasing Veterans’ awareness of agriculture and helping them break into the ag industry. See their resource guides here:

Statewide Military Veterans Email List: For Military Veterans in Oregon who are exploring the farming path. This two way communication option provides a space to share statewide events and resources relevant to Veterans. You can also email the list serv yourself to ask a question, sell farm equipment, post a job opportunity, or organize over a particular topic. To join email Teagan.moran@oregonstate.edu. List serv is monitored to assure safety and relevance.

Training

Veterans receive education benefits from the GI Bill. Determine how best to use your available benefits using this GI Bill Comparison Tool [https://www.va.gov/education/about-gi-bill-benefits/post-9-11/]. Community colleges and land grant universities like Oregon State University offer a variety of agricultural programs.

There are many farmer training programs throughout the PNW, including Rogue Farm Corps’ [https://www.roguefarmcorps.org/] beginning-level Internships and advanced Apprenticeship programs, including the Rogue Valley Regenerative Farming Fellowship 2023 Training Start Date: April 4, 2023 - End Date: October 26, 2023 [https://www.roguefarmcorps.org/rff].
