

JUSTICE SPEAKS

FACTS SHEET

founded headquarters

2009 — by Jonathan & Sharon Ngai
Hollywood — Los Angeles, California

vision

Empower a generation of change agents, end sexual exploitation and see worldwide justice for the oppressed.

mission

Transform culture's definition of human worth through prevention, education, outreach, and restoration.

what we do

For over 10 years, Justice Speaks has remained committed to tackling human trafficking through prevention, outreach, collaboration, and restoration in each of our locations — Los Angeles, Thailand, and Nepal. Beyond our outreach to women and children in the sex industry, we lead educational and prevention programs. From developing change-agents in middle schools and colleges here in the U.S. to elementary school camps, scholarship programs, and restoration centers that reach children who are targeted for Thailand and Nepal's sex trade, Justice Speaks is uniquely shifting the culture to prevent sex slavery in women and children as well as restoring those being rescued.

We have seen that through education, women and children can be spared from entering into the sex trade and the debilitating trauma that comes with working in this industry. Our prevention efforts extend even further into culture by partnering with local businesses as well as screenwriters to help champion film content to combat sex modern day slavery. For a more extensive list and to see our new initiatives (like opening recovery homes and SENDING Thai teens to our Scholarship Program to give them a future with options other than the sex work) check out our website at JusticeSpeaks.org.

where we work

Los Angeles | Thailand | Nepal

our impact

- Lead prevention camps in rural Thailand reaching 2,000+ at-risk kids
- Serve 100's of at-risk children at our Thailand children's center.
- Advocate on behalf of trafficking victims at the United Nations.
- Partner with law enforcement for rescue operations in the U.S.
- Developed a prevention curriculum for schools across the U.S.
- Annual Kalah Justice Conference educates & combats trafficking.
- 1,500+ gift bags given to women working in the sex industry in LA
- Sponsoring 23 girls at risk of being trafficked in Thailand in a Trade School Program so they can live a slave free life, 100s more on waitlist.
- Provide education & life skill courses for rescued women.
- Mobilizing our campaign across multiple platforms to expand resources to empower a generation to be a voice for justice, and to see the end of human trafficking.

how to join us to end sexual exploitation

JOIN US IN LA. | BE A VOICE. | INVEST. | PARTNER.