Evans Brewing Company Begins Trading Under the Stock Symbol “ALES”

Issued on April 14, 2016 at 9:00 am ET

IRVINE, CA--(Marketwired--Apr. 14, 2016)--Evans Brewing Company (OTCBB: ALES), a producer of award-winning premium craft beers, today announced that the company's common stock has begun trading on the over-the-counter market under the stock ticker symbol "ALES".

Having its common stock traded on a U.S. public market places Evans Brewing in a unique position among producers of craft beer – the fastest growing segment of the beer market – since only a handful of craft breweries are currently publicly traded.

Evans Brewing is preparing to open its first branded restaurant, The Public House by Evans Brewing Company, in downtown Fullerton, California and is exploring opportunities to expand its brewery operations beyond its current landmark southern California microbrewery. The company's brewery is the oldest craft brewery in Orange County and among the oldest in all of southern California.

Trading of ALES stock also represents the fulfillment of management's promise to a group of its stockholders who been waiting over 20 years to have tradable shares.

Evans Brewing took over operation of its Irvine, California brewery after the stockholders of Bayhawk Ales, Inc., which founded the brewery in 1994, voted Evans management control of the Bayhawk Board of Directors in December 2013. Bayhawk shareholders backed Evans Brewing's plan to reinvigorate the brewery, rebrand brewing operations under the Evans name, exchange Bayhawk stock for shares of Evans Brewing Company, and get Evans stock quoted on a U.S. stock market.

Since the takeover, the Evans Brewing team has improved brewery operations, reduced expenses, forged new distribution relationships, continued to win international beer awards. For the Bayhawk stockholders – a group of individual investors whose Bayhawk stock holdings averaged approximately 300 shares per shareholder – Evans Brewing 1) brought the company up to date in its filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission; 2) provided the opportunity for Bayhawk stockholders to exchange their shares for an equal number of Evans Brewing Company shares; 3) retained a market maker; and 4) completed all of the additional steps to have the company's stock quoted and traded on the over-the-counter market.

“Trading as a public company comes at an opportune time for Evans Brewing Company, and we are particularly pleased with our “ALES” stock symbol,” said Chairman Mike Rapport. “We are currently strengthening our regional presence in 6 western states as we also prepare to open our first branded restaurant in the large southern California market.

“We are particularly happy to have reached this trading milestone for our stockholders who were formerly Bayhawk shareholders. They laid very important groundwork by providing seed capital for Bayhawk Ales over 20 years ago and helped to make our historic Orange County brewery a reality. Now they finally have a stock that has a trading market and have the ability to benefit from Evans Brewing Company’s strategy that they supported throughout this process.

“For prospective investors, Evans Brewing provides one of the very few opportunities to invest in an independent craft beer company with the potential for significant growth in a sector that continues to capture a larger share of the overall beer market.”
