Welcome—8:30-8:35am
• Jack Cunningham (Bill Graham Centre for Contemporary International History)

Introduction—8:35-8:45am
• Asa McKercher (Royal Military College of Canada) and Michael D. Stevenson (Lakehead University)

Session 1: A Cold War World—8:45-10:15am
• David Webster (Bishop’s University): “‘A Natural Development’: Canada and Non-Alignment in the Age of Eisenhower”
• Susan Colbourn (Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies): “Cheers to the Canadian Wheat Surplus! Lester Pearson’s Visit to the Soviet Union and the West’s Détente Dilemma”
• Timothy Andrews Sayle (University of Toronto): “Living Dangereously: Canadian National Security Policy and the Nuclear Revolution”

Session 2: Politics, Economy, and Diplomacy—10:30am to noon
• Bettina Liverant (University of Calgary): “Responsible Consumerism: The Canadian Family in the Fifties”
• Penny Bryden (University of Victoria): “An Emerging Constitutional Culture in Canada’s Postwar Moment”
• Asa McKercher (Royal Military College of Canada) and Michael D. Stevenson (Lakehead University): “From Normandy to NORAD: The North Atlantic Triangle in the Age of Eisenhower”

Session 3: An American Century—1:00-2:30pm
• Stephen Azzi (Carleton University): “Living in the Shadow of American Prosperity”
• Eric Fillion (University of Toronto): “Talking Jazz at the Stratford Shakespearean Festival, 1956-1958”

For registration details, please see:
http://billgrahamcentre.utoronto.ca/canada-in-the-age-of-eisenhower