Dear Epsilon Camp 2019 Families:

Welcome to Epsilon Camp 2019!

This planning guide provides detailed information on preparing for camp, what forms must be submitted before camp, what to bring to camp, various aspects of living on campus including lodging, meals and amenities, and a sample camp schedule. Please read this guide carefully and in its entirety, including accessing all underlined web links, to make sure you understand completely what to expect and what is expected of you. We hope we have provided you with everything you need to know to confidently prepare for camp. Contact Nancy Moreland at nancy@epsiloncamp.org or John Osmon at john.osmon@epsiloncamp.org with any questions you may have.

Remember that all non-camper attendees, those attending the full camp or for only one day, and those staying on- or off-campus must register as an attendee. Your invoice will be emailed to you in April with payment due in full by May 15, 2019.

Registration forms for campers and non-camper attendees can be found on our website (password: euclid):

- http://epsiloncamp.org/camper-registration
- http://epsiloncamp.org/non-camper-attendee-registration

We look forward to seeing you this summer!

Sincerely,

Nancy Moreland
Camp Director

Epsilon Camp staff will be on hand to welcome your family and orient you to the campus. Plan to arrive at the University of Colorado Colorado Springs between 2:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m. Sunday, July 14, the time period university staff will be on hand to provide check-in services. Families who need to check in after this time should check with the Front Desk of our assigned residence halls (to be announced closer to the date of Camp). Epsilon Camp families are expected to be housed in the Summit Village area of campus.

The Epsilon Camp 2019 Welcome Dinner will be held at 6 pm on Sunday, July 14. Information about its venue will be provided at the time of check-in on July 14.

The departure date is Sunday, July 28. Check out time is 11 a.m. The University will charge a fee if you have not vacated your room by 11:00 a.m.

Directions to UCCS
- Epsilon Camp will be held on the campus of the University of Colorado, Colorado Springs. Families may wish to fly in to either Denver (approximately 90-minute drive) or Colorado Springs (approximately 20-minute drive).
- It is possible to reach Colorado Springs via public transportation from the Denver airport using either the Bustang or Groome Transportation services.
- Once in Colorado Springs, we suggest hiring a taxi, Lyft, or Uber to take you the rest of the way to camp.

Campus Parking
Camp families are able to park free of charge in the Gateway parking garage near the Summit Village residence halls. We will have a floor or two that is reserved for Epsilon Camp and details about which floors are available for our use will be available at the time of check-in.
II. REQUIRED FORMS AND INVOICE INFORMATION

Required Forms
Required forms, including submission instructions, will be available via a link that will be emailed to you later this month. These forms should be submitted in the manner instructed to Camp Director Nancy Moreland (nancy@epsiloncamp.org). These will include:

Required camper forms:
- Medical Information/History Form and Medical Consent Form
- State of Colorado Immunization Form

- Code of Conduct Form
- Immunization Form (only required for attendees under 18)

Optional Field Trip information and sign-up forms will be emailed to you closer to camp.

Invoice Information
You will receive your camp invoice via email in late April. This invoice will reflect your deposits. A payment agreement form will accompany the invoice.

Payment is due in full on or before May 15, 2019. Payments may be made by check only. Checks should be made payable to Altus Math with the camper name on the subject line. It is required that you mail a hard copy of your invoice and a signed payment agreement in addition to your payment. If you choose to use a bill pay service through your bank, you must separately mail a hard copy of your invoice and signed payment agreement. Credit cards are not accepted.

Adjustments to your bill may be made once Epsilon Camp receives the final comprehensive camp bill from the University. Adjustments may include but are not limited to: lodging and associated costs (number of nights, etc.), individual meals billed to the camp, lost keycard/lockout charges, damages, and late check-out fees. Please be aware that the lost key fee is $75.
III. COMMUNITY CONNECTIONS

Campers will be placed into groups of 10–12 campers, and each group will have a dedicated counselor. Camper groups within each level do not imply any difference in ability. Camper levels are as follows (this represents a slight change in nomenclature from previous years):

- Pythagoras Level: 7- and 8-year-olds
- Euclid Level: 9- to 11-year-olds who are new to camp or 9- to 11-year-olds who have previously completed any part of Pythagoras Level (formerly Year 1)
- Gauss Level: 10- to 12-year-olds who have completed the Euclid Level
- Conway Level: 11- to 12-year-olds who have completed the Gauss Level

Camper groups within each level will each have their own group name as well. For example, in Pythagoras level last year there was a Thales group and a Hypatia group.

2019 Parent Facebook Group
This is an optional place to get to know other parents ahead of camp. It is a “secret” group for parents of registered Epsilon Camp 2019 campers only. Your request to join the group will be approved once your camp deposit is received. To join the group, please send an email to john.osmon@epsiloncamp.org with your Facebook profile name requesting to join the 2019 Parent Facebook group.

Informal Socializing
One of the most enjoyable parts of Epsilon Camp is meeting and making connections with other families. We encourage you to allow your camper large amounts of time for informal play with other campers and to sit and chat with other parents while you supervise this play. Many great friendships have been forged among Epsilon families. We also encourage you to go out for happy hour or dinner with fellow parents (please take a cab if alcohol will be involved!) while your campers dine with counselor supervision. Just be sure to be back by the designated sign-out time.
IV. LODGING AND MEALS

Note that all persons planning to attend camp for any amount of time, whether it’s part of one day or the full duration of camp, and whether or not they are lodging on- or off-campus, are considered attendees and must be registered.

On-campus housing is strongly encouraged as it is the best way for families to experience the camaraderie and companionship of other families who have faced similar challenges. The informal playing and chatting that occurs in the evening is a great way to deepen your camp experience, and we find that families that stay on campus tend to have the most positive experiences overall.

Lodging Costs

On-campus housing is $100 per suite, which can sleep four people in two separate bedrooms. A single parent and child who are attending the camp alone may opt to share a suite with another parent and child. If you wish to share a suite, you may find your own suitemates from among those attending. If you do opt to share a suite, please accept that we will be unable to accommodate requests for suitemate changes during the camp.

Residential Life

Epsilon Camp families are expected to be housed in Summit Village. A sample floor plan is shown below. All Epsilon Camp residents are expected to observe quiet hours from 10 p.m. to 7 a.m.

!Shared Bedroom in a Suite, 4 persons suite
Meals
Charges for camper meals, including the Welcome Dinner on Sunday, July 14, are included in the tuition fee for the camper. All attendees present on July 14 will be expected at the Welcome Dinner, and invoices will reflect the charge for this dinner for non-camper attendees.

Camper meals will be held in the Roaring Fork Dining Hall. Dining for non-campers in the Roaring Fork is not à la carte; there is a per-meal dining hall cost. Campers must be supervised by parents during breakfast and lunch but may be supervised by counselors during dinner if the parent wishes.

If you have chosen to stay on campus, you are required to purchase a dining plan and will be billed accordingly. If you are staying off campus, you may pay for each meal upon entry to the cafeteria.

Meal plan charges are as follows:
- 0-2 years: No charge
- 3-10 years: $15 per day
- Ages 11 and up: $30 per day

Information on Special Dietary Needs
You will be asked to note special dietary needs for each camper and attendee on the Dining Form. The dining hall makes an effort to accommodate the most common dietary issues, but to ensure that they are able to accommodate your needs, we will be passing the Dining Form information on to the cafeteria staff.

Laundry
There are laundry facilities in Keystone House in Summit Village.

VI. MATHEMATICS SKILLS PREREQUISITES REQUIRED OF CAMPERS

Pythagoras Level (ages 7–8) Skills Prerequisites
While the focus of the Pythagoras Level is on concept exploration rather than skill development, the following skills are essential for success at camp. By the beginning of camp, campers should be able to:

- Add, subtract, multiply, and divide multi-digit numbers. 3-digit addition/subtraction and 1- by 3-digit multiplication should be effortless. 1-digit into 3-digit division should not interrupt their thought process.
- Add, subtract, multiply, and divide fractions without interrupting their thought process.
- Work with variables given by letters: evaluate an algebraic expression involving one variable, translate an arithmetical statement in English involving one variable to an algebraic expression, and multiply two linear expressions.
- Know what it means to “square” or “cube” a number and have some exposure to higher exponents.
- Have exposure to long division and square roots.

Euclid Level (Ages 9–11) Skills Prerequisites
All Epsilon Campers ages 9 and over must satisfy the Algebra Requirement before attending Epsilon Camp. Additionally, Euclid Level Campers should have the following skills:

- Fluency (techniques that can be performed effortlessly in the middle of some other complex activity)
  - addition
  - subtraction
  - multiplication
  - simple division
  - place value

- Experience (techniques that require some thought, but not complete concentration)
  - long division
  - using percent
  - adding fractions
  - converting between fraction and decimal
  - finding lowest common multiple and highest common factor
  - expanding brackets and working with order of operations
  - working with several variables represented by letters or names (not just x)
  - arithmetic and manipulation of variables
  - exponentials and square roots
○ using coordinates to specify a position on a plane or in 3D
○ understanding the meaning of "solving an equation"
○ geometric vocabulary

● Familiarity (techniques that can be completed easily, but might require full concentration)
  ○ solving a linear equation
  ○ using rates and units
  ○ graphing functions
  ○ working with inequalities
  ○ factoring polynomials with integer solutions
  ○ finding the prime factorization of an integer
  ○ using a ruler and compass
  ○ translating between expressions in English and algebraic expressions
  ○ questioning why a mathematical process works
  ○ reasoning logically; for example, solving logic puzzles

Gauss Level (Ages 10–12) Skills Prerequisites
Campers entering Gauss Level should review their notes and work folders from the previous year. They should also work to develop “experience” and “fluency” level in the items on the full list above. All Gauss level campers must satisfy the Algebra Requirement before attending Epsilon Camp.

Conway Level (Ages 11–12) Skills Prerequisites
Campers entering Conway Level should review their notes and work folders from the last two years. They should have at least “experience” ability with everything on the list above and “fluency” in as many skills as possible. All Conway-level campers must satisfy the Algebra Requirement before attending Epsilon Camp.
VII. NOTE TAKING

At Epsilon Camp, at other mathematics camps for older students, and at the university level, there is emphasis on writing mathematics properly. While the students in Euclid Level and above should attempt to take some notes in class, we do not expect the student to take copious notes that would take away the student’s attention from the professor and communication with the class. Some students may find it easier to write mathematically using graph paper instead of lined or blank paper.

VIII. STUDENTS DOING MATHEMATICS

To understand math, one needs to do math. Faculty may give out assignments daily that serve as elaborations and clarifiers of the class discussion. These assignments are to be done in class and during office hours where they will have support from faculty and counselors, as well as peers. Campers tell us that this opportunity to work one-on-one with professors and in groups of friends is a favorite part of camp. Camp homework policy is that if assignments are not completed by the end of office hours, the camper is not required to complete the assignment. On the following day they are expected to submit in class their work even if it is not complete. If campers desire to complete unfinished assignments in their free time, this is welcome, but we do not expect campers to forgo social activities or stay up late to complete assignments.

Outside Courses During Camp

You are requested to ensure that for the duration of Epsilon Camp, your camper is not enrolled in any other classes that have expectations of attendance and homework, including online classes. We require campers to be fully engaged while at camp with no other outside obligations.
IX. ELECTRONICS AND CALCULATOR POLICY

Cell phone, smartwatch, or tablet use by campers while under the supervision of Epsilon Camp faculty or staff, including during class, classroom transitions, or group mealtimes is prohibited. Any emergencies or concerns on the part of the camper should be communicated directly to a counselor, faculty, or staff member.

Playing electronic games, such as games on phones or tablets, is prohibited during the academic day while under the supervision of Epsilon Camp faculty or staff.

Calculators are not required or encouraged at Epsilon Camp. We want to see practice of basic arithmetic mentally and on paper.

- There is a sizable area of open space adjoining campus. This area offers many trails for walking, running, or mountain biking. The map can be found here.

Nearby Attractions

Colorado Springs and the surrounding area are home to many interesting attractions. One of the most famous is the beautiful Garden of the Gods. We encourage you to spend some time looking through the area attractions on the Visit Colorado Springs website as the options are too numerous to list here.

Local Day Camps
Many families will be bringing non-camper siblings to camp and may be interested in local day camps.
- The University of Colorado Colorado Springs runs several camp programs, which serve kids ages 5 and up.
- Many other camp opportunities are available in Colorado Springs. This local website highlights some of the options.
XII. PARENT PROGRAM

Epsilon Camp offers a Parent Program to help parents to manage education and parenting issues of EG/PG children. The workshops are held in the mornings and some afternoons and are designed to help parents succeed in nurturing mathematical and social growth in their exceptionally gifted children, and to help plan their educations. Parent Program sessions are optional. The Parent Program schedule will be announced during the Parent Orientation Session on Monday, July 16, 2019. Non-camper siblings are able to attend Parent Programs sessions if needed or desired.

Each member of the faculty will have a session to present to the parents, sometimes about the topics they are working on in class with the campers, but also about their professional research or their personal mathematical path. There are also a number of round-table and group-discussion sessions where parents can share questions and experiences with each other on topics like executive functioning, homeschooling, advocating with schools, math circles, summer opportunities, and so forth. We often have expert speakers, sometimes in person, and sometimes over Skype. Finally, we frequently schedule our Visiting Speakers to speak in a parent session, in addition to their work with the students.

Please note that parents are not permitted in camper classrooms when classes are in session.
XIII. FACULTY AND STAFF GIFT POLICY

Please refrain from offering end-of-camp monetary gifts to camp faculty or counselors. A small gift made or a card designed by your camper is more valuable than purchased items but not necessary.

XIV. WIRELESS ACCESS AND GUEST TECH SUPPORT ON CAMPUS

On-campus and in-room guest wireless Internet connectivity is provided at no charge. Attendees agree to abide by the university computer-use policy.

Information on computer labs and printing needs for those who plan to work remotely while at camp may be found here.

Epsilon Camp is not responsible for wifi speed or printing issues.

XV. VISITORS

Epsilon Camp classes and the Parent Program are exclusively for campers and their parents or guardians. Please register all family members who will be on campus affiliated with camp, even for a brief period.
XVI. SAFETY PROTOCOL

The safety of all participants is the highest priority at Epsilon Camp. The following protocol will be in effect throughout the camp:

- Campers and their parents/guardians must follow the sign-in and sign-out protocol. At no time should a parent remove their camper(s) from the classroom, meals, or other activities without first officially signing out their camper. No “verbal” sign-outs are allowed at any time.
- In the case of a serious medical problem or other emergency affecting the student, we will attempt to notify parents or guardians immediately, while at the same time seeking prompt medical attention.
- A student diagnosed later than July 5, 2019 by their physician as having a serious or highly communicable disease (e.g., measles, pertussis, meningitis, etc.) will not be allowed to attend camp. If a student develops any such disease at camp, he or she will be immediately admitted to the nearby hospital or placed in cared-for isolation, as merited by the case. There are no refunds of any kind issued after May 15, 2019. Epsilon Camp recommends travel insurance, such as TravMark, to protect your travel, tuition and room and board payments in case you or your camper(s) are unable to attend camp or must leave early, due to a medical or other emergency.
- We have children attending the camp who are severely allergic to peanuts and tree nuts. Because of this allergy, we request that everyone avoid bringing tree nuts/peanuts or tree nut/peanut-containing products to any public area of the camp, including classroom areas and the dormitory common lounges. In addition, we ask that you please carefully wash hands after eating any peanut or tree-nut product in your private room.

If you wish to read about the university’s emergency procedures and preparedness, you may do so here.

XVII. EPSILON CAMP AT-CAMP EMERGENCY CONTACT NUMBER

Upon arrival at camp, you will be provided with a contact number of the Camp Operations Manager for use in urgent or emergency situations.
