

D116 – Graphic Designer/Illustrator/Concept Artist Placement

We are looking for a talented, reliable, hardworking, creative and intelligent candidate to join a team of people revolutionising education.

We are looking to design and build an online numeracy based world, maths based books, characters, apps and much more!! We have many great ideas and plans and are looking for someone to help them come to life. The position will start initially as an intern, but this could lead to a job for the correct candidate.

Numberfit is a unique concept in numeracy and problem solving for pre-school and school aged children from 3yrs to 12yrs. Its' aim is to get children's minds and bodies in shape using a multi-sensory teaching methodology combined with fitness and aiming for every child to enjoy learning.

Take a look at the video on our website www.numberfit.com to see what we do.

We have many resources and ideas which we are looking to design. These include our activity sheets and books as developing characters (and possibly animation and numeracy based stories) as well as the website. We are looking for someone creative and artistic to come on board.

The successful candidate should have an interest in design and characters and should be comfortable working with Adobe products ie Illustrator, Photoshop and Indesign. We are looking for someone who could potentially manage the project's and someone who has UX/UI design expertise.

In order to apply can candidates please forward their CV (and a link to a portfolio or examples of work if applicable) to enquiries@numberfit.com with the subject line D116.

We are based in Amersham on the Metropolitan line but can be flexible around someone working remotely for the correct candidate.
