PARISH CHURCH OF ST JOHN THE BAPTIST

MARKET PLACE ♦ OPEN TO THE PUBLIC (TIMES VARY)

THE PARISH CHURCH is one of the largest in the United Kingdom. From its founding in the late C12, the church was extended and embellished over more than three centuries, culminating in a complete rebuilding of the nave in the early C16. The works were funded through a range of benefactions, including merchants who had amassed wealth in the Cotswold wool trade. Of especial note is the south porch, 'the most splendid of all English church porches' (Pevsner). A protective coating was applied following its recent restoration, which accounts for the brighter hue.

THE CORINIUM MUSEUM presents a unique space for displaying nationally important collections. Visitors are able to trace the story of the Cotswolds with hands-on exhibits, computer interactive and room reconstructions. The juxtaposition of these techniques with objects brings the past to life for everyone from school children to grandparents.

HISTORIC DWELLINGS

COXWELL STREET (OFF DOLLAR STREET)
& THOMAS STREET

THIS AREA of Cirencester is considered by historians to contain more genuine survival than any other town in the Cotswolds. The dwellings in Coxwell Street, still occupied by townspeople, are a delightful jumble of vernacular cottages and more imposing structures. Thomas Street, adjoining, has historic buildings such as Monmouth House, whose origins go back to the C14. For a guide to the town's historic buildings, pick up a copy of Cirencester Civic Society's Town Walk leaflet (£1.20).

RIVERSIDE WALK

JUNCTION OF PARK STREET & THOMAS STREET

RUNNING parallel to Cecily Hill is a tranquil pathway along the western edge of the town. This takes you past the seasonal open air pool, one of the oldest in the country, and continues along a former millpond that fed Barton Mill, possibly one of three local mills recorded in Domesday. The area is a haven for wildlife. An information panel sets out the history of the site.
