Corporate & Securities | Latin American and Iberian Practice

Prior to finishing his Master of Laws and joining the firm, Osvaldo Miranda practiced law in Cuba as an attorney representing private clients and as a judge in one of Cuba's commercial courts. While in Cuba, his practice focused on representing foreign investors doing business in Cuba, where he was engaged in several high-profile transactions. With his background in Cuba, as well as his legal training in the U.S., Osvaldo has a unique perspective on the recent changes affecting the Cuban economy and insight on the challenges and opportunities for foreign investors wishing to do business in Cuba.

As an integral member of the firm's Cuba Practice, Osvaldo is a frequent speaker on matters relating to doing business in Cuba, including understanding Cuba's foreign investment bureaucracy and on how Cuba's foreign investment law interacts with other provisions of Cuban law.

As a foreign law clerk with the firm's Latin American and Iberian practice group, Osvaldo also assists clients doing business in Latin America, including Brazil and Mexico.
