

Brown Family Ministries

Loving People To Christ

Music has always been the Brown family's main avenue to share their hope in Christ. They have served together in full-time ministry since 2009 when Mark and Angie launched Brown Family Ministries with their daughters, Erin and Meagan. Later the sons-in-law, Peter and Caleb, also joined in. In 2016, Caleb and Meagan were called to another mission, and Justin Preston joined the family as the new drummer.

God has instilled in the Browns a passion for genuine worship and has led them to minister at various places. Some of these venues include conference facilities like The Billy Graham Training Center at The Cove, prisons in the northwest United States, bull riding circuits, homeless missions, military support, and churches of all sizes.

The Brown family team is based in the Greenville, SC area. When they aren't traveling, they spend much time on the relational side of their ministry, partnering with other organizations, and following up with people God has put in their path who might need a word of hope. Their mission statement is "Loving people to Christ."
