what is forge?

Forge is the 2016 Northeast Quad Conference for the American Institute of Architecture Students (AIAS).

AIAS Quad conferences often see more than 300 of the best architecture students from across the country attend; engaging in workshops, seminars and tours of a new host city every year.

This year, Carnegie Mellon University's chapter was selected to host in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Our vision for Forge: New Urban Frontiers is to reveal the innovative ways that Pittsburgh and other American communities are working to define the future of cities, and to show how change at the urban scale can be initiated by even the smallest of actions.

ABOUT US AIAS & CARNEGIE MELLON SCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURE

The AIAS is the American institute of Architecture Students. AIAS is an independent, nonprofit, student-run organization dedicated to providing unmatched progressive programs, information, and resources on issues critical to architecture and the experience of education. The mission of the AIAS is to promote excellence in architectural education, training, and practice; to foster an appreciation of architecture and related disciplines; to enrich communities in a spirit of collaboration; and to organize students and combine their efforts to advance the art and science of architecture.

Forge is a student-run initiative by the Carnegie Mellon University AIAS chapter with official support from the School of Architecture and the University Administration.
