RefuAid provides people who have fled their homes with tailored support to build independent and dignified lives in the UK.
Since we launched RefuAid in 2015, we’ve witnessed the world change in so many ways.

Over this time, the number of forcibly displaced people worldwide has increased by over 60%, with over 108 million people now considered to be displaced. An increase in conflict, natural disasters and political persecution has exacerbated the situation, forcing more and more countries into political and social instability.

We’ve also watched as safe and legal routes have become increasingly restricted, leading to more and more people undertaking dangerous journeys; we’ve watched as a shift in public and political rhetoric has unfolded, with a sense that empathy and compassion are no longer the prevailing sentiments; we’ve watched as the rights of those who have claimed asylum in the UK have been debated, targeted and diminished.

And yet we’ve also witnessed, with admiration, how the power of hope can form some of the most beautiful relationships. We’ve seen first-hand how resilience and unity can overcome huge obstacles and can empower communities to achieve change. We’ve watched individuals rebuild their lives after street homelessness and destitution, and families who, having overcome huge adversity, have flourished professionally, academically and socially.

“Over 108 million people now considered to be displaced.”

We’re so proud to have built an organisation that focuses on empowering people to achieve their goals and find independence. As we continue to navigate this crazy ever-changing world around us, this will remain our priority and we will always take inspiration from the people we work with.

As we reflect on another year, we’re so thankful to have such an amazing network of support around us and we hope this report demonstrates the collective impact we’re able to have together.

Anna Jones
Co-Founder & CEO

“My journey has been a remarkable testament to resilience and determination. After I left my homeland, I embarked on a treacherous journey in search of safety and a chance to rebuild my life. After overcoming numerous obstacles, I arrived in a new country, where I faced the daunting task of navigating through unfamiliar systems and cultural barriers. Throughout my journey, I remained committed to my dream of becoming a healthcare professional and contributing to society. The process of obtaining my GMC registration was a significant milestone in my path towards achieving that dream. It required unwavering perseverance, countless hours of studying, and the support of mentors and fellow refugees who became my newfound family. Through the rigorous examination and assessment process, I demonstrated my knowledge, skills, and dedication to providing quality care to patients. Today, as a registered GMC professional, I am honoured to contribute my expertise and passion to the healthcare field, serving as a beacon of hope and inspiration for other refugees who are pursuing their own dreams amidst adversity.”

Mohib Ullah, RefuAid’s Head of Language

The classroom environment is a pivotal experience that allows our community to learn English, integrate, and gain diverse experiences. The support from schools and teachers is shaping the lives of so many, making a positive impact which fills me with happiness and drives me to keep doing what I am doing. I hope you, as a supporter and ally, feel the same. Thank you to everyone on behalf of our resilient and hopeful community.

49 volunteer tutors, who generously offer RefuAid students tailored one-to-one tuition. Cumulatively, our volunteer tutors have donated roughly £50,000+ worth of tuition this year alone.

Courses include Aeronautical Engineering, Business Management, Fashion, Maths, and Renewable Energies, to name but a few.

98% of Language Programme graduates surveyed were happy with the quality of tuition and support provided.
“There is no word in English or other languages to express my gratitude. Organisations like RefuAid give so much hope to people at critical thresholds of their lives, especially during these tough times for asylum seekers and refugees. This means a lot, and this meaningful support from various volunteers shows that another world is possible.”

Aslan* studied on our language programme in 2022 and is now studying an LLM with Human Rights and Criminal Justice at Goldsmiths

“RefuAid students add diversity to our classes and the students seem to have a great attitude to learning and are very conscientious; they are so focused on their goals and what they can achieve in the UK. It’s amazing to be able to give them these opportunities so they can return to their careers and hopefully build our country up as well. They are all highly skilled - quite a lot of them are medical professionals - so we’re crying out for them. And they’re all incredibly grateful to be here.”

Sian Matos, Head of Operations at English Path

“The work that RefuAid do in supporting those forced to flee their homes is absolutely vital. Their holistic approach in helping people break down the barriers to accessing education and employment are critical for ensuring that people can restart their lives, and they have uniquely identified the importance of the language component in ensuring that this is a success. Kaplan International are thrilled to be able to support RefuAid with this particular part of their programme, helping people obtain the necessary English language skills to fulfil their potential here in the UK. We love working with RefuAid – they are so helpful, organised and quick to respond to any questions we have. We look forward to continuing to support them with their incredible work for as long as it is needed.”

“Our Equal Access Loan programme flourished this year and we would not have achieved as much as we did without the support of our generous donors, partners, mentors, accreditation bodies including the GMC and GPhC, and the continuous efforts of the team. We want to extend a special thank you to Street UK, our loan administrator, who have been supporting us since 2017.

As we move to a new loan provider in 2023, we recognise that our achievements would not have been possible without Street UK and their fantastic team.

As always, our loan recipients continue to amaze us with their resilience and determination and we have loved meeting as many of them as possible face-to-face this year.

The Equal Access Loan programme enters the new financial year having won the Charity Awards in the Grantmaking and Funding category and migrating to our new loan provider, Moneyline.”

*when considering both the savings in state benefits for those in work, alongside their tax and national insurance contributions. Based on 188 individuals.

In June 2023, our Equal Access Loan Programme won the Charity Award for Grantmaking and Funding. Judges were impressed by the sustainability of the scheme and the potential for scale. “A real virtuous circle”.

72% of Equal Access Loan recipients were receiving state benefits prior to requalifying.

41% of our loans are due to be repaid next year, in addition to the 36 which have already been fully repaid.
“My name is Israa, one of the Sudanese doctors who is currently working in Sandwell and West Birmingham Trust, City Hospital, Emergency Department. I would not have reached my destination and start working again as a doctor in the UK without RefuAid’s massive help and support. They held my hands towards the right track. To begin with, financially, they offered me a loan. I used the loan to pay for my courses and exams, which were very expensive and unaffordable. Within a six-month period I have passed my PLAB1 and PLAB2 exams and registered [with] the GMC.

I joined the NHS in 2019, and I have worked in many departments in different hospitals in London and West Midlands. Since then, I have been working very hard as a frontline doctor during COVID till now. I would like to thank every member of RefuAid for making my dreams come true.”

“I am a refugee with hope and a great personality who arrived in the UK in the summer of 2018. Although I have a Bachelor’s degree from my home country, I could not able to take up any employment or study opportunities due to immigration rules. Moreover, to pursue further studies, I needed to obtain an English qualification (IELTS), so I searched for charities that could support me.

That’s when I discovered RefuAid, the organization that I proudly call my family. I reached out to them, and they assisted me in obtaining a scholarship at a private English school. Thanks to their support, I was able to attend the English course and passed my IELTS qualification. Moreover, the qualification fee and six-month transportation expenses were covered by RefuAid.

The next challenging step was applying to university and seeking a scholarship, as I wasn’t eligible for a student loan, I had to rely on small donations and scholarships. Finally, I achieved my dream of securing a place in the course I wanted to study, along with a sanctuary scholarship. Throughout the application process, RefuAid provided me with incredible support.

While studying, I also started looking for jobs, and once again, RefuAid assisted me in revising my CV and help me build confidence for job interviews. I successfully graduated and obtained a job. I now work for an organization that supports refugees including Ukrainians who are fleeing an illegal invasion. Thank you to RefuAid I am rebuilding my life in this country while doing the job I love. RefuAid has made a significant difference in my life and also hundreds of others like me.

I am grateful for their unwavering support and the opportunity to make a positive impact alongside them.”

“Forced migration is one of the leading issues of our generation. Whilst governments must be called upon to provide safe and legal routes to sanctuary, more support is needed to enable people to rebuild their lives in the new communities they find themselves. Our work with our employment partners over the past year has demonstrated the amazing capacity businesses and the third sector have to create meaningful change, by working together to support people into employment that is commensurate with their skills, experiences and qualifications.”

Our Business Consortium, launched in 2022 in partnership with EnterpriseAlumni continues to be a vital support network for both our graduates and experienced professionals. We’re currently working with over 100 businesses who support us in multiple ways, including hiring RefuAid candidates, donating funds, offering mentoring and running employability days and workshops. In May 2023, this work won the Business Charity Awards in the Consortium category.
“My journey with RefuAid started in 2020, when I came to the UK and my biggest dream was to continue my education and complete a master’s degree. RefuAid helped me overcome the language barrier. I received support in English classes from RefuAid and financial help for the IELTS test, which I took and achieved the required score from the first attempt. I completed my master’s degree in Environmental Engineering in 2022. Further on RefuAid signed me [up for] employment support to prepare me for interviews and the job market. Due to these sessions I was successful in securing the job of my dreams in the engineering field. Thank you RefuAid for all the support, help and guidance you keep on providing to refugees.”

HOMES FOR UKRAINE
PROGRAMME

“It was an intense, bright and emotional year. We are proud to have launched our Homes for Ukraine programme within RefuAid and it was such an honour to work on it during the last 12 months. Since the programme started we have helped 216 people to obtain visas and arrive in the UK safely. We guided them through the whole process and helped them to settle in the UK. Of course it would not be possible without our trusted partners Refugees at Home who have provided tailored sponsors for our Ukrainian clients. Though our involvement in the project is coming to an end, we are certainly not saying goodbye to our clients, as some of them may move to our other programmes where they will receive further support.”

“I was going through some financial problems as my current job and Universal Credit income were not sufficient to cover the day to day expenses of our family. During the application process I did not have enough spare money to get the ticket for my mom to travel to the UK. The application process was easy and swift. Before I applied I was worried as I was looking for a friend to give me the loan but was not sure who to contact. The repayments will be easy and comfortable with the offered options. For me the benefit was that it helped me to quickly get the ticket as my mom to travel as soon as possible. In the future of course, I plan to pay back my plan and complete my bootcamp course to look for better job opportunities to facilitate a good life for my family and contribute back to humanity using my newly gained skills in the field of software development.”

TEAM

None of this would be possible without the hard work and unwavering dedication of our team. Working in this sector can often be so incredibly challenging, so we’re grateful to be doing it alongside such passionate colleagues.
Today, as I stand as a proud graduate, I am filled with an overwhelming sense of gratitude and accomplishment. This moment is not just a personal triumph for me, but a symbol of hope and resilience for all those asylum seekers and refugees who have faced adversity, barriers and fought against the odds to pursue their dreams. Today I graduate as living proof that dreams can be realised, no matter how difficult the journey may be.

I dedicate my degree to all Afghan girls who have been denied access to education and to all displaced people in the UK who are facing challenges and barriers to access education. Together, let us strive for a future where no girl is left behind, where education becomes the weapon that dismantles the barriers of prejudice and ignorance. Let us continue to fight for justice, equality, and the empowerment of every individual, regardless of their gender or background.

This is not just my achievement but a collective victory for the indomitable spirit of every refugee, every girl denied an education, and every dreamer who refused to surrender to the darkness. Let us celebrate this milestone together and carry the torch of hope and resilience into a brighter, more inclusive future.

To all the individuals, my family, friends, mentors and professors who have played a part, big or small, in my journey, I say thank you!”

Tamana studied at International House Newcastle in 2020, passing her IELTS and going on to study an MSc in NGO and Development Management at the University of East London. She graduated with distinction in January 2023, receiving a special commendation in recognition of her high academic grades and extracurricular work, which included campaigning for access to education for displaced students. She is now working at Routes, an organisation that works to empower displaced women with mentoring opportunities and leadership training.
