I am the co-founder and Managing Partner of Nixon Gwilt Law, a national law firm focused exclusively on healthcare innovation. I'm an expert in healthcare law and policy issues relating to healthcare innovation, including Remote Patient Monitoring, telehealth, mHealth apps, predictive analytics, artificial intelligence, personalized medicine, and value-based delivery/reimbursement arrangements such as Value-Based Enterprises (VBEs), Accountable Care Organizations (ACOs) and other Alternative Payment Models (APMs).

At Nixon Gwilt Law, I provide strategy advice regarding business models and healthcare transactions and counseling in healthcare regulatory compliance matters. I represent digital health companies and healthcare startups, along with hospitals and health systems, physician groups, pharmacies, and post-acute care providers.
