LinkedIn's making its recruitment tools free to those fighting the coronavirus pandemic

Ingrid Lunden @ingridlunden / 5:00 pm EDT • April 1, 2020

QUOTE:

From today and for the next three months, LinkedIn says it will provide free job postings for “essential” businesses globally — companies in healthcare, as well as warehousing, supermarket, freight delivery and nonprofits working in support or relief roles — in other words, those providing critical front-line services to keep the economy and society in motion.

We're all in this together.
