Anticipated duration: 12-month contract (with a possibility to extend upon successful completion of the project)
Anticipated start: As soon as possible
Location: Johannesburg or Cape Town, South Africa

About Instill Education

We're a start-up education organisation with a vision to transform teaching and school leadership across the African continent. We are inspired by cutting-edge teacher training institutions (such as Relay GSE and Sposato GSE) to build the most innovative, impactful and scalable teacher training institution in Africa. We have offices in both Cape Town and Johannesburg, and are looking to grow our teams in both locations for 2018.

We are currently running a range of school-based programmes to test the efficacy of our model, build partnerships with a cross-section of schools and educational programmes, and build a team of outstanding educators and innovators who, we hope, will one day lead the expansion of our campuses to new locations. In the past 18 months, we have delivered programmes with Pioneer Academies, SPARK Schools and Streetlight Schools in Gauteng, and the Collaboration Schools project in the Western Cape, and are expecting to take on new partners next year.

Understanding the role

We are a young, energetic and multi-cultured team. We are driven by passion for education, particularly as a tool for social justice. The role will be varied and exciting, requiring you to throw yourself into situations in which you have little or no experience, and think your way out. You will be an educator, social entrepreneur, and a leader in the organisation with the freedom to grow in a highly supportive environment. You'll be surrounded by educators and entrepreneurs, expected to express your opinion and fight for what you believe. You will be celebrated for your failures as much as your successes, provided that you learn from mistakes and strive to grow. Above all, you must believe that one of the keys to improving education in South Africa is by inspiring a generation of teachers and school leaders.
